October 25 - Theme for the week.
Mercury conjoin Sun in Scorpio

Clarity and Vision. We are all fighting for discernment over something external and internal which has invaded our divine selves - influenced our moods and outlooks, our priorities and attitudes. Removing the infiltration is in process.

October 27 Venus at 0° Libra – November 20

Beauty, love, and relationships are going to be high focus. You'll want to pour your heart into something beautiful for the next three weeks.

Are you prompted to invest more of your heart and inspiration into creating loving environments, enhanced artistic design, increase musical and magnificent expressions of ultimate professional and domestic/family outcomes? Could an increase of love be pouring into the planet of humans, weeding out the crass and coarse from the evolutions of love?

Some financial/business goals, job and work/schedule/salary and company planning are inspired to expand very favorably. Libra helps create wealth and good rapport with clients/associates and the public.

All forms of negotiations and arrangements in business are fair. Promising, yet at the end of November, there is a bit of stoicism and caution.

Goals which are planned yet expanding too fast, will need to be re-addressed around Nov 9 -17 in order to pull it in a bit. Get realistic with deadlines, expectations. Delays might be discussed, outcomes, ending November with positive and mutually harmonious agreements of how to proceed with increased potential and financial gain for the future from November 18-Dec 20 as Venus makes excellent aspects to Neptune, Pluto Jupiter and Chiron during that time period.

Love and values are high focus. Fairness yet firm.

What do you innately believe is the highest value and priority you want to aspire to, and want for all relationships you are going to be involved in, in this life? How do you want to socially and spiritually conduct your future relationships? What kind of people are these lovely humans you feel could support who you know you really are?

Are we being honest with the amount of care we are investing in the people we say we love? Do we nurture enough these people?

Moods come and go, are manipulated by dark forces and technology, in the material world and beyond, but they are not honest vibrations to follow when it comes to conducting our behavior with others. These lower thoughts and inclinations are liars to our heart.

We are all fighting for discernment over our moods and outlooks, our priorities and attitudes as we have been infiltrated.

Soon Jupiter will move into Aquarius, December 18/19 2020 bring a new way of living – based upon honesty and not being afraid to say it. It will be creating opportunity to objectively transform ourselves even higher than ever before because of the times we are in. Jupiter will also at that time conjoin Saturn cementing the new ethical standard based upon humanitarian fairness and objectivity for ourselves and the world in December. It will be the new norm.

October 31 Sun 8* Scorpio conjoin Mercury and oppose Uranus Black Moon and Moon in Taurus – THE FULL MOON

The powerful process of putting the pieces of life's puzzle together in order to finally identify how the false self was created in order to survive this world would be an example of this Full Moon culmination of Mercury retro oppose Uranus, Sept 27 – October 31, with the Sun Conjoin Mercury for a short bit on Oct 25/26 reaching the zenith of awareness and exposure. Is this about ourselves or also in the world? It's as if everything that has been building up from September on, reaches this splitting realization, forcing one to make that ultimate decision between the old pattern and the new truth and ultimate freedom, no matter how foreign it may feel.

Whether they are physical signs and triggers popping out of one's memories, or psychological confusion sorted out and finally making sense given the situations you were in, now that the Sun is also conjoining Mercury, a new resurrection of our true self can emerge and take charge of that old self.

The movement of the Mercury retrograde in Scorpio oppose Uranus in Taurus from Oct 1- 20 and blending into the Oct 31 Full Moon, has created an intense crescendo of formerly repressed or unresolved issues finally brought into the electric power of Uranus' transparency, creating a powerful split and separation between repression, compromise and unresolved issues to moving into one's true power and transformation, the real self.

Even under the Full Moon, The Sun's dazzling radiance illuminates the dysfunction of Moon/domestic and Uranus strange unconventional history and the past and the Black Moon all in Taurus– the compromise as a result of density (the negative of Taurus).

This is so big to me, I can't help wonder if the false obedience of our human race in the Sign of Taurus (dense obedience to material and sexual slavery) wasn't the pattern of slavery to the Nephilim that we are now breaking. It had physically and energetically mind controlled so many – also monetarily and socially, that we literally had to conform, go to sleep or react in compromising behavior in order to psychologically survive.

What kind of power did/do they possess?

Even though one might say “ I was never like that”- this October period, very well could expose minor compromises one still needs to see, and move towards a greater courage to stand up for one's Higher Self's Ideals. It's amazing! I'm so ready for this, no matter how uncomfortable – let's get Free!

Now the Sun has moved into 0-8 Degrees Scorpio in opposition to Uranus, enhancing the vitality, confidence and courage to rise out of the situations which we may have struggled with.

Move forward and keep looking for that greater joy, the truer Self and move away from the compromising, from repression and the checking out and the old past.

It's time to cut the energies that no longer serve our future worth and value, who we really are and where we want to be. Everything is being put into priority for a healthier more realistic life now.

Truth will come out even more during this last week of October, if you know where to look. Taurus rules one's Worth. You are so worthy of being what you once were before the world went into its nightmare of corruption. It is returning again to that Clear Vision, you are remembering!

Ideas, clarity of facts, information comes to you that you must have for your ability to go deep with rich analysis in your own personal life and the world.

Music inspires. Try to have it playing throughout your days.

October 27 Sun conjoins Mercury in Scorpio (10/25) opposes Uranus (10/31), Then Mercury goes backwards in retro to Libra on the 27th and squares Saturn in Capricorn exact, 10/31 – 11/7 peaking on Nov 3, 2020) Energy is empowering now to bring into our physical world, decisions and positions we take that benefit ourselves and our work from reality, love and firmness.

The above shows Mercury, Sun oppose Uranus, square Saturn. Notice Mercury appears to stand still on Nov 1 squaring Saturn, and continues squaring Saturn up to Nov 6, creating a 6-10 day theme of firm restrictive energy emphasizing Data/Decisions computed upon serious facts of the matter, then enforced by Capricorn Rules and Protocol..

This is a strong week for boundaries. Boundaries and self respect, everywhere.

From now up to November 10, peaking on Nov 3, the world is going through a separating out from the old fallen values, as if coming out of some form of hypnosis or old influence once again, reaching for the Sun. Saturn square Mercury Direct inspires us to use impersonal boundaries, restrictions, facts and the law, yet because it is in a square, we are fighting against something that is uncomfortable with this angle and yet that unmovable action of clarity and truth is an unyielding Law or Boundary that needs to be made. Expect yourself to be a bit strict and maybe intolerant throughout the next few weeks.

SunSaturn square Mercury – have you ever had one of these in your own personal transits? Suddenly you feel such intolerance for any thing that is messing up a higher vision or goal. It's as if you suddenly are jolted awake into action to defend and protect what you love and desire when something is creeping in to take it. The firm hand saying NO demands respect, and Back Off, but, it's a fight.

With this aspect along with the Mercury separating, that waking up and boundary theme, it's been an amazing explosive October.

Again, so much to talk about! How could so much fit into 7 days or more? It's like a year squished into one tiny cycle. Thanks for listening -
