

January 12 -18

Theme for this week – " I AM Drawn Higher" - A wisdom call to the parts of ourselves that must change.

January 12 – 13

Sun, Mercury, Saturn and Pluto conjoined at 22/23* Capricorn.

For some, this period represents the end of the line. The period of opportunity to gracefully fix a certain thing is over. Beginning January 12, 2020, whatever IS, IS. Whatever it was that did not get addressed, mastered or done, is relegated to a new system. How? The message to fix it will come from everywhere. It's time for more self honesty, sharp objectivity and removing the foggy negligence. Drawn up to a higher responsibility, accountability, (I love those words, they're so Capricorn) and humility. The softer grace period is gone and a new intelligent pressure is pressing down. It's exciting and means progress!

The long period of preparedness has passed. We have graduated and now, in this Capricorn stellium, a new level of realism is in a way pressed upon us. Call it karma or destiny, but is now dictating how things will go.

Call it a graduation, but what have we learned?

We have navigated through an unexpected University of such complex choices, opportunities, dark and dangerous situations from of 1997/98 to present. It required a belief in something higher, and a Will to make it through.

Our strength ensured we would overcome and we are still standing. We are now smarter, awakened, seasoned and know so much more than before we began that "Obstacle Course of Great Challenges".

Who would have ever known, what we had to endure and accomplish.

Now, situations we could stumble into, force change...

Such as personal growth issues, health/body issues. projects not finished. If we've been stumbling through them for 20 some years, now, the new Blueprint, austere and demanding, will deliver a feeling of being holy inspired to be objective and clear about our glitches, our sabotaging parts. a deciding now to beautifully and maturely, change them, so we can thrive and reach a happiness we know is there for us.

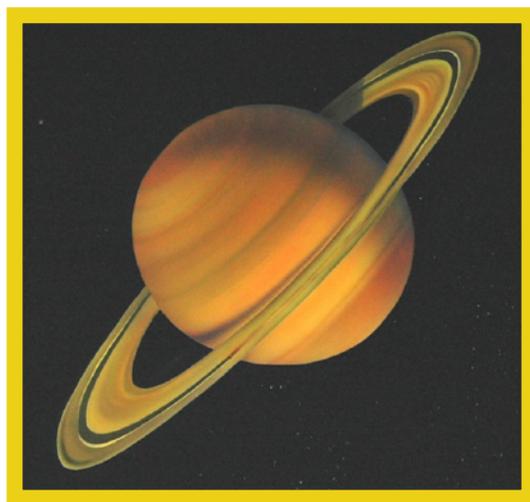

There will be the drawing the line upon a situation or behavior where a long leash has been extended time and time again, and now a new serious expectation is felt. Life is now expecting a refining of what we have done so far, so we can move into this rich and higher world.

1998 - 2012 was the strangest darkness. The solar eclipse in 2017 lightened the load. Many relate to it being a time in the world where the days were a heavy burden to the children of light. Worry, sadness, frustrations paralleling greater Personal Mastery... How did it ever begin? Well, that's a story in itself, but now...

Something has most definitely shifted.

Freedom. Who do you see yourself really becoming? What do you want to walk into fully? Is the YOU, you know, the real YOU that you can be happy living with? This is the new challenge of growing into who you were always meant to be, and possibly were at some point in time, way way back.

This will be a year unlike any year, you and I have ever seen before...

It will be a no nonsense intensity in several areas of life, beginning in January and lasting all year of 2020. An overwhelming acceleration of even MORE information to process will flood our mind. The news, social interactions, our jobs and the internet.

Everything is discussed, hashed out and addressed. Many self help ideas, programs, classes, advice are compounding what people are already attempting to assimilate, and it's all too much. Keep it simple this year, one thing at a time. Take the one, two or three things that matter the most, and focus on that.

Write yours down now for the next year or two.

Jan 13 - Feb 6 - Venus moves into Pisces - Compassion and mercy, love and empathy are woven into the new Capricorn conjunction intensity. The love planet entering Pisces at this time, brings a precious willingness to love harder and higher. It will be the outer garment of this 2020 theme. Just let it come through, every day. Sharper expectations will be softened with understanding.

Consider this month's Planetary Configurations, The 2020 Theme which is a no non-sense self assessment with wonderful movement forward towards greater permanent mastery. It's easy this year to know what matters.

Mastery = Happiness!

January 14 - Mars at 7* Sagittarius inconjunct the North Node at 7* Cancer - and

Mars semi-squares Pluto - A few days of possible frustrations with possessions, items, money, finances, or attempting to influence someone's understanding regarding ethics and their responsibility to correct something.

January 15 - Mars at 8* Sag semi-square Saturn - Minor small steps and details today, for correcting and putting in place things as they should be

January 13 - Venus in Pisces sextile Uranus in Taurus -

Unconditional love, transparency, favorable for meetings, creative work, writing and harmony with others now.

January 16 - 18 Mercury enters Aquarius and squares Uranus at 2* Taurus - Caution required. Guard against temptation towards sharp speech, contrariness, intolerance, alienating behavior and attitudes. Take the posture of objectivity, yet warm hearted and welcoming standards explained. Anxiousness and easily triggered thinking is common with this one. Contracts/Meetings not easy now.
