

STARDROPS

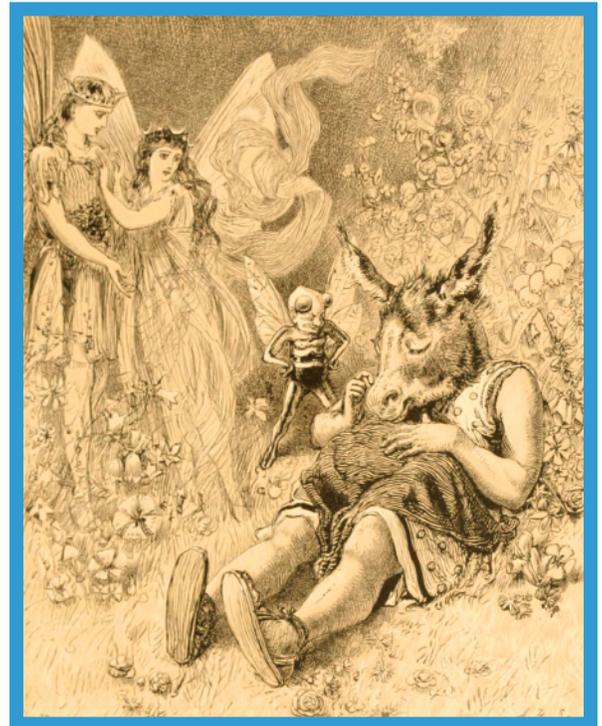

JANUARY 19 - 25, 2020

Theme: Truth and Confession, Relief.

January 25, 2020 - New Moon at 4* Aquarius sextile Black Moon and Chiron at 2 and 3* Aries - A time for sharing with another helps to get to the root cause of problems. Some are ready to make the right changes in order to take life to the next level..

The New Moon is all about honesty, confession and forgiveness. The sextile to Chiron and Black Moon, supports sharing, equality, friendship, joining with another and discussing one's innermost truths. There is mixture of wanting to trust people with the truth, especially the wounds and suffering one has endured, along with a history of interferences with the' life purpose. Sharing is crucial now, to clear the air. Yet there are bizarre twist and turns with getting there.

Uranus ruler of the Aquarian New Moon, is in square to the New Moon. Even though a powerful honesty seems to be in play the sense of still being kept at arms length is evident...how can you have both?

The relief one experiences with sharing honestly the innermost intimate thoughts, ones' past history and feelings. one would hope that such a revealing would bring a closeness to the other person or group- yet there is no reassurance for any future resolve with this person. group or activity. I sense interference.

Treat this cycle as an opportunity to clear one's conscience, or bring a greater truth to a situation without any attachment towards an outcome. Truthful sharing is for Loves' sake alone.

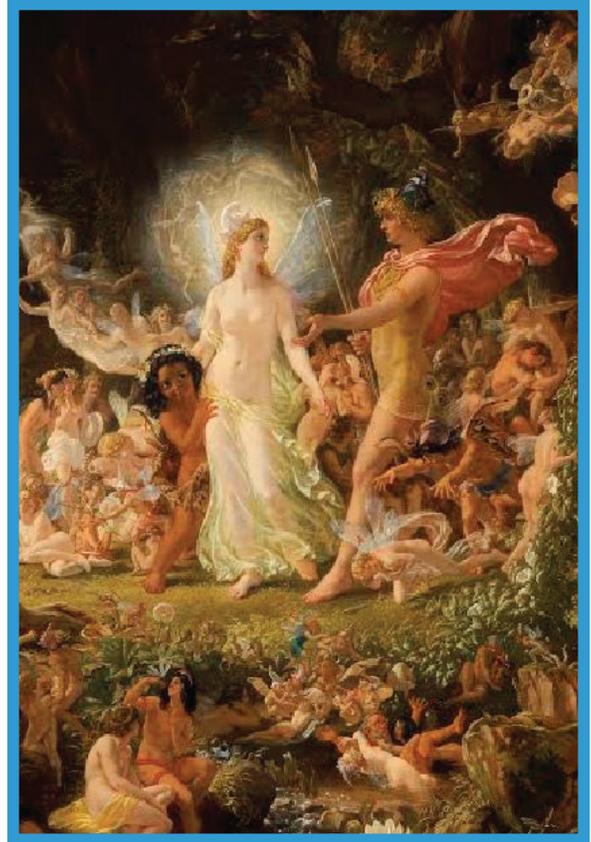

Now it's time to objectively make plans to move forward with a brand new enthusiasm in order to make changes and correct one's mistakes, bad habits or whatever has been holding one back. Remember, Aquarius is a most powerful potion for making dynamic changes and improvement within self and outer situations. The Transparency is most satisfying, and effective. An exciting time.

Uranus square the New Moon can mean a couple of things:

1. Personal and global eruptions continue and increase for next 28 days, creating vulnerabilities while particular factions begin escalating an alienating and isolating posture, seen in several areas.

2. Personal truths and revelations can bring a harsh perspective that one is left out, faces isolation, alienation. One desires to remain somewhat guarded and independent from future vulnerabilities. Arguments contrary behavior, oppositional postures, rebellion and revolutionary actions could come out around you during this period. Guard against extreme impulses to reject an outer situation or activity in a way that could be premature, thoughtless. The unorthodox, unbridled entitlement and arrogant superiority may appear around you. Groups can be on the one hand beautiful with the sextile of honest sharing and pro-active progressive plans, yet on the other hand a sense of feeling alienated threatened and acting out like 16 year olds.

3. A fierce independence takes hold to remain true to one's truth, yet still maintain a bond and cord of love to those who we have ties. Therefore it feels as if living in two worlds simultaneously.

Can you think of other themes this tension Uranus square could create for 28 days with the New Moon square Uranus?

Jan 19 2020 Mars semi-sextile Jupiter and Venus trine Node - A beautiful break time for friends and fun. Adventure, supporting your values and treasures in life, good taste is at your fingertips and Venus expands the heart chakra for some recovery time.

January 20 Venus semi-square Pluto - Minor irritants involving unhappy social relationship interactions or disappointments with another. Are they not responding as you wished? Are they behaving as if you are owned by them, or feelings are disregarded?

Mercury at 7* Aquarius inconjunct North Node at 7* Cancer - Awkward speeches, feedback, commentary and conversations. An adjustment needs to happen in the way one looks at a situation versus someone else's suggestions. In other words, You can't deny the facts of a situation, yet at the same time, one still must bend and make adjustments in order to reach an outcome.

Decisions to take care of finances, a bill, the purchasing or handling of some possession or property could take place.

Obligations to deal with paperwork, mail, correspondence, in order to be responsible and graciously attentive to these kinds of details.

January 21 Mercury inconjunct Hades - A potential run-in with energy that must be challenged. Don't let another put you down, bring a rain cloud upon your day.

January 22 Sun at 2* Aquarius square Uranus - This is a temporary moment of being a bit on guard, calculating how one is to move forward with a desire or plan without disrupting the peace around you. How does one reach a goal that requires support, but another has a different idea in mind? This transit ties in to the New Moon description at the top. This is simply the exact day it will be at its peak.

January 23 Venus at 11* Pisces sextile Jupiter at 11* Capricorn - A most lovely time of enjoyable music, literature, theater, a night at the movies, an art gallery, artistic inspiration or social gathering which is satisfying to the soul. Love, kindness and invitations or sense of belonging is in the air. (Check out Movie New Moon Theme recommendation below)

January 25 Mercury at 15* Aquarius sextile Mars at 15* Sagittarius - The dynamic highly sensitive and intelligence of Mercury in Aquarius does well in a sextile with Mars. The mind and thoughts are original, energized, and there are those around you now that absolutely love your vision and the way you describe even the most monotonous situations. People can find depth and clues all around them. A study in the absurd, unusual and ridiculous and almost unsettling conversations combined.....with.....

January 25 - Venus at 16* Pisces square Mars at 16* Sagittarius -... honest self examination with humor is definitely in the air, (Can you laugh at yourself?) which leads me to suggest the adventure for this week's
