

STARDROPS - MAY 24 2020

MAY 25, 2020 Mercury 24* Gemini inconjunct Pluto at 24* Capricorn

A day to prepare for inconveniences. Mercury would emphasize travel, transportation, all forms of communication including your phones, battery life, technical issues, emails and the rest.

If you are out and about double check your normal items you take with you for your convenience.

Pluto in Capricorn has business to deal with, rules to follow and the big picture in mind. One can't be bothered with trivial casual issues or concerns of others during this sort of a day. However, you might not have a choice but bend a bit and take care of the annoyances.

Delays with reaching your goals and ultimate agendas might be a problem. This transit is weak, as it will only be for a bit of time in one day's time.

Listen carefully when speaking with others, such as directions, needs, or nailing down events in your schedule.

May 25 2020 Mars in Pisces sextile Uranus in Taurus

In spite of the above Mercury disconnects, in general the 24th - 26th will be stronger in power for meeting up, sharing stories, helping out others you care about and experiencing a sort of dynamic electric charge to reach out and connect throughout this period. People are in general, generous, courageous, empowered and have an increase of faith and spiritual direction motivating at this time. Accept for some Mercury technical inconveniences which might occur on this day, can be very good for all group community connections or seminars and conferences.

New truth expands your views giving you more motivation.

May 26, 2020 Mercury 27* Gemini inconjunct Jupiter at 27* Capricorn

Opinions are askew. Judgment is off. People aren't listening carefully. If you don't agree with someone, or vice versus, make sure you or they are repeating what you thought they said, as filters are fuzzy.

Mistakes in speech and opinions expressed personally or in media regarding world events. Corrections are required and adjustments must be made. Not too serious, but frustrating. In general, it could be a great day for realizing on this day, we've hit a plateau of some sort of saturation of themes in the world to discuss, between ourselves and with attempting to tune into news that has some depth. Not happening much.

Time for a new acceleration, a new powerful wave of light to move people's world up to a higher place where a much more interesting meaningful ideas are realized in order to engage the heart and mind with.

Ask for accuracy with all information. That way you will be sealed from others' projection of others' judgments and powerful opinions.

May 28 Mercury at 0° Cancer conjoin the North Node at 0° Cancer

A time for contemplating home and domestic plans. Real estate or redecorating, re-doing, cleaning and organization.

Mundane everyday tasks involving basic domestic needs or anything related to food, shopping or home care has a sharper distinct purpose throughout the day.

Even better, strong emotional connection and a spirit of generosity is in the air.

This is an important day to begin something meaningful to you. What could it be? If you are planning to speak to or visit a special person on this day, it's more than just that. It's marking a moment in time that has a bigger and greater intention which could have a life of its own. In other words, the action taken to initiate a warm and sensitive nature, make an appointment with that specialist, have dinner with your friend or family member, or submit that resume or have your job interview, whatever is the meaningful action you take, could have significant meaning for your future.

This is because Mercury involves speaking, planning, scheduling and meeting with, and the North Node holds the power within it to mold a possible blueprint or form that can start a trend or pattern. It's nice to think that this day could launch a new thought or situation which begins a time of more happiness for you.

May 29 Sun at 8* Gemini sextile Chiron at 8* Aries

The Sun blazes with its intensity upon your suffering and hurts, melting them with understanding. Ideas form in ones' mind which are not normally thought, but now, somehow, these new ideas are like mini-revelations. They reach out to the past problems and with this new perspective, empowerment replaces helplessness, neglect, aloneness and frustrations. Therefore, wouldn't it be fun to arise early, ask the Universe "What book or information should my eyes fall upon this morning to set my day?" Search through your bookshelves and trust what book your hand stops at. Open it up and begin reading.

May 29 Mercury 1* Cancer inconjunct Saturn at 1* Aquarius

Not enough time for contemplation. Mercury desires emotional relief, depth of meaning, assimilating information which brings food to the soul but duties, work, tasks and projects pull you to keep on task. It's an incongruency all of us with ADD are used to, distraction and forgetting what one was originally to do. Set your timer, and cut through on your job this day, but make a reminder list of the important things which pulled on your heart to digest and enjoy later. When the timer dings even at the end of the day, that is your cue to pick up the treasure and enjoy fully. Inconjuncts usually require an adjustment of priorities which seem frustrating at the time.

LUNAR ECLIPSE IN SAGITTARIUS

June 5 2020 Lunar Eclipse at 15* Sagittarius oppose Sun and Venus at 15 and 12* Gemini square Mars at 15* and Neptune at 20* Pisces.

The launching of a new narrative which will instigate strange and unnecessary conflicts in world events.

With the new Lunar Eclipse coming into play, it's time to be a bit more watchful with purchases, financial, business, technological decisions. You'll want to wait until at least after the 9th of June. If you're used to my rant about Lunar Eclipses, they tend to create potential mistakes in judgment, accidents, strange semi-influenced thoughts and decisions which lead to problems in our lives.

Similar to several other Moon issues, this lunar eclipse could involve communication, signing papers, technology involving websites and changing or building, adding re-arranging data...mistakes can be made during these cycles which could involve travel, financial decisions, transportation, documents, important letters and reacting to words others speak which trigger one's psychological and programmed weaknesses.

Temper your talks, responses and meetings throughout this period, and it's literally a terrible time to have any sort of constructive meeting at this time, as there will inevitably decisions made or positions taken that are not sane or logical at all.

The lunar eclipse can be a time when we're potentially manipulated in our emotions and mental filters, in order to cause upsets in our lives. (How is this possible, and am I implying this phase of the moon has an almost engineered ability to compromise people?)

It's tricky

June 18 – (in effect from June 1 – July 12, 2020) Mercury retrograde at 14* Cancer square the Black Moon, Chiron and Moon in Aries

Conflicts, harsh exchange of words, issues dealing with important letters and documents which need attention could create tension.

Opening one's heart to empathy towards others' situations along with the concern over family and friends' wellbeing, concern for supplies, food, finances and income, self sufficiency and all issues related to security might be part of the theme of this Mercury retrograde.

A concentration upon an intelligent objectivity of security in every single way is what Mercury desires for us to embrace, but there is a serious conflict at the same time with others. Are they unavailable, are they uncooperative or even a bit antagonistic? In the world and maybe in our own individual lives, a tension between an emotionally desirable experience or position and others who are quite strongly moving in an entirely different direction, seems to be what this Mercury retro could be presenting to us.

Starfires.com
sirius@starfires.com