

STARDROPS JUNE 7 -13

The continuation of Jupiter and Pluto in Capricorn conjunction.

DATES:

March 27 – April 15, 2020

Jun 18 – July 10, 2020

Nov 5- Nov 19, 2020

This has been a year where an escalation is happening within several factions, groups and communities attempting to project their opinions, narratives and judgments upon society to influence rules, laws or achieve a specific agenda in government activities and processes in order to cement the beliefs into some kind of permanent reality for all time. It is a year of many attempting to either uplift, liberate and transform beliefs and judgments into a higher reality or oppress, convolute and aggress upon the people, narratives that would lock in an incredible intensity of control for the future.

Remember, in January 2020, the astrology launched a theme for the year with this cycle of Jupiter/Pluto as it also lined up with the south node and Saturn in Capricorn, the Lunar Eclipse in Cancer/Capricorn all opposing the North Node and Hades. It began to move into play beginning Dec 17, 2019, building up into a peak in the first half of January, and continuing up through February.

It contained the seeds of a hellish (Hades) situation for the world, however the Capricorn conjunction with Jupiter involved promised somehow, an abundant and vibrant life would win out over the Hades attempt to poison the minds and bodies of the population.

As you may recall, when I saw this coming, I did not know what it was going to do, but kept saying something is very wrong which could impact the population in a bad way.

The point –The Jupiter/Pluto Conjunction in Capricorn began as mostly a positive sign there were forces at play that could hold the balance for whatever danger could be coming. The Jupiter/Pluto conjunction involved in that configuration was to represent a ray of hope pouring through the resourcefulness and power of millions of seasoned people which have always survived somehow throughout time. It may have represented a possible divine intervention and guidance, the shadow activities would be overcome by a higher power.

Take these dates above as a mixture of the potential of positive ideals and opinions, expansive wisdom and reality spread out all over the world, reaching every culture and region. See how the abuse of this conjunction creates the other, an abuse of information, extreme measures projected upon the people, extreme dysfunctional opinions and projected judgments as answers to social problems.

To each person there is required the talent of filtering what is truth and what is manipulation and reap the protection Jupiter offers.

Remember last week's affirmation for wisdom? It might be a good idea to continue using that sort of affirmation in order to bring down discernment and intelligence upon everyone, now.

June 8 – 10 Uranus semi-sextile Chiron The truth enters all frustrating situations and adds an element of objectivity to every hurtful situation. These three days simply help us think clearly about anything we can't control, including people.

June 11 Venus sesquiquadrate Pluto A mild irritation that one's ideas are simply frustrated a bit. How do I clear my head and become more brilliantly focused in order to get this job done? Organize this project? Think through this paperwork or organize this situation? The desire for structure and planning the unknown. Hum....you figure it out.

June 11 Sun in Gemini at 20* square Neptune Today is NOT the best day to count on really important conversations, meetings, paperwork or support to happen. This day is good for retreating into reading a great book, laying a bit low, holding back your impulse to have that confrontation with others. Make sure you are absolutely honest and square with your thinking and speaking, all decisions you make, interactions you have or numbers you're crunching. Honesty is key today.

June 11 Venus semi-sextile Uranus A slight moment of excitement at the thought of progress made with something you care about very much. It's most likely a very real possibility.

June 10 – July 17_ Venus sextile Chiron Venus' subtle yet deep and thorough waves of love penetrate into past wounds, fears, negative beliefs.

Venus moves into the wounds we have and starts its amazing dissolving in the heat. This Fire could be even the heart of Higher Evolutions of Divine Love. Washing away old scars and memories. They emanate from Venus. Surfacing memories of past treatment, past behavior, now re-thinking so many things in the new light of strength that is building within. Be strong again.

June 12-14 Mars conjoin Neptune A time of things in the world potentially escalating from the Lunar Eclipse week (June 3-7) square Mars and Neptune.

A time of serious trickery for protesters, undermining any peaceful motive, could seriously backfire for many many reasons. Lost of property, injuries, mass confusion, unclear where the Martian anarchy is truly coming from and why.

No one understands how this could be so out of control.

Affirmation

“Divine Light of Invincible power, I AM now calling for the highest protection, intelligence and security manifest everywhere. I Call to Archangel Michael to take command of all private and public places, sealing off all danger and aberrant minds and the forces that move through these individuals and situations from the astral plane.

We call for Divine Intervention to dismantle all secret Martian violent agendas.

Shield our communities, public and residential areas, families and communities now. I Am commanding the power of the Seven Archangels to patrol the streets each day and demand order, peace, harmony and the protection of life and property everywhere, Amen.”

Other ideas of Mars conjoin Neptune - A moment of highly impressionable vulnerability. You might be susceptible to being convinced to do things or commit to actions which do not end well. Susceptibility to energies that cause you to want to ake on someone's suffering, fix or sympathize with their situation, or negative circumstance.

Be on guard today and put up the shields. Seal self while still remaining helpful. Avoid self sabotage. Stay away from undermining, sabotaging, volatile activities, people or any other influences. We're simply too open and impressionable and apt to get upset or be in put into a situation where there are others extremely upset. This cycle began to build from June 4 up through the 14th especially.

Mercury retrograde 14* Cancer

Began June 1 – turning retrograde June 17/18 – leaves retrograde July 11/12, 2020.

Can you sense the Mercury cycle pressing down dropping hints of plans, ideas, insights into your mind? How would this appear now Mercury is moving into a retrograde in Cancer cycle?

What exactly would this one particular droplet of thought that will not go away be for you? Have you learned how to separate a Mercury retrograde theme in your mind from all the other thoughts wanting your attention?

I would think this Cancer/Mercury retro thought would be something which could inspire one to notice some new things it wants you to nurture.

An idea that someone touched you, nurtured you, understood you.
A realization something related to security is most likely possible to achieve.

A concept of happiness with re-arranging your home or office, or yard.

An incredible urge to cut through on some domestic house/property decision which will bring to you satisfaction and has finally been handled, decided upon, discussed or planned.

The understanding how important tempering ones' words in order to soothe, comfort and support another, being aware of the other person's emotional fragility.

Tuning into the need to preserve, protect and secure relationships, partnerships, employees and animals' well being.

To understand the practical needs of people and their feelings brought to light.

Money and business, finances and concrete practical affairs handled beautifully throughout this Mercury retrograde cycle in order to clear away unfinished business or any issues that have been put off for a while. Cleaning up one's money, budget, bills, bookkeeping.

Insights in ways to serve others in a more genuine way, opening the doors for public to enjoy your business, products or service with a new personal touch that can stabilize and begin growing your business and financial abundance.

Sealing up your aura.

Sealing up your home.

Buying practical things you might need, just in case.

Growing a garden. Buying survival food and water.

Having a personal deep and supportive meeting with your partner, your child, employee, friend or family member.

What happens when Mercury turns retro in Cancer a strong pull towards security and comfort begins. The visual pictures in our mind tend to be repeatedly revolving on things that cause us to become very aware of an emotional need – and suddenly this emotional need keeps coming back again and again.

There can even be an emotional need to get a job, fix your house, change the way you shop for food or share your love with your family or loved ones.

An emotional need does not have to be some dramatic overwhelming emotional state where one is obsessing about the thing you desire -

We are talking about that typical insight we can receive during a Mercury Retro placed into our mind out of nowhere or possibly through a helpful conversation with another.

Usually there is just one concept which can expand into several helpful steps or pieces.

Sometimes it is many little things we have been waiting to help us get to that next level, but they all should have an element of comfort leading to a greater sense of security.

In the most sweetest way, a spiritual vision can pull on you, leading you into a decision to spend more time immersing oneself into a spiritual commitment. It could be reading, studying, praying, meditation.

What if this emotional inspiration (in your ideas and mind) caused you to long for expressing yourself through music, photography or wanting to enhance your music and artistic creativity? Are you an artist? Would this period of time cause an Ah Ha moment for writing and performing some thing, or deciding how some piece must sound?

THIS MERCURY IS NOT ASPECTING ANY OTHER PLANET IN THE SOLAR SYSTEM

It is at 14 degrees Cancer. I'm using a 3* orb. As Mercury turns retrograde, no other planets are close enough to connecting to Mercury within a 3* orb, so this is creating a Stand Alone Mercury Retro.

WHAT COULD THIS MEAN?

Mercury is standing alone, possibly allowing a space for contemplation within all of us from June 3-July 12, peaking strongly now through June 18.

The contemplation might look something like this experience a moment, a pause you can feel (Cancer) deep inside that is almost a sort of secret ray intuitive sense. In this pause you sense the possibility that you just might be on the threshold of an exciting new cycle. Where did this come from and how?

The pause in time and space is allowing an in-breath of peaceful inner attention placed upon an idea that is coming down into your world you are about to move into a new way of living, thinking and accomplishing something in your life that was somehow before too much to believe could happen.

Maybe it was not even conceivable before, but now, it actually seems possible. Why?

What is the difference between now and a few months ago? Remember, Hermes, (Mercury) IS the messenger of the Gods.

This inner special sense you could be experiencing is encouraging you to allow this beautiful new thing to grow, be nurtured and protected.
(This idea is still all within the parameter of Mercury in Cancer – mind filtered through a feeling of anticipated happiness and future security.)

Allow it to expand. Pay attention to this situation that could just now actually be launching a new you.

Is it happening via your work? Is it happening in your personal relationships? Is it occurring by how you look at your surroundings, your needs or your vision of your future? Are you sensing you could actually tackle a project or big picture that before just seemed too much for you or no one was around to assist?

The Moon rules Cancer, and the Moon on the Mercury retrograde cycle is in Taurus. This grounds the ideas. It tells us it is a practical commitment. It's doable. It's possible this new feeling if it is planned conscientiously, could be an additional asset for your life, something of great worth, an additional beautiful thing of value that is your very own for you to enjoy and keep. You own this.

Imagine. What is that thing that you're sensing throughout the weeks which calls you to achieve it and is worth the effort if you could just plan it out, figure it out, or have the positive outlook to believe it could be real?

Take the pen and write down your own Affirmation. Say the words out loud as you write it every day. Five minutes a day. “ I name AM so excited that I am achieving _____and it is manifest in my world!”

Welcoming your story – don't let this one get away – write it somewhere and remember.
