

STARDROPS JULY 25 -31, 2021

This weeks' Stardrops are short and to the point - thank you for reading Stardrops!

Themes:

July 24-26 Mercury oppose Pluto - News, information and communication coming from sources where much is riding on their opinion to make your mood high or down - resist being manipulated throughout this weekend, throughout the week.

July 26-28 Mercury inconjunct Jupiter in Pisces - possible plans must now be changed - re-arranging your hourly schedule a bit in order to handle some unexpected visitor, problem or persons' situation. Some adjustment regarding future goals, schedules, agendas. Another strange disjointed period. The thoughts were centered upon some idea or opinion you may have held as fact but now you're presented with another perspective and considering a new concept. A shift in the mind is required.

July 28-31 Mars at 29° Leo oppose Jupiter at 29° Aquarius along with Venus square the Nodes A period of time, where one is inclined to jump to conclusions, exaggerate others' beliefs, judgments, or advice....it's a time of being a bit overly confident, cavalier about some issue, motivated by passionate emotional beliefs and promises of having ones' needs taken care of with greater freedom, help, support and quality of life. Is it you feeling this way, or are you dealing with someone pressured and stressed to pull something off but might not have the ability to do this...No matter if this is on a large scale or smaller personal daily issue, just maintain common sense, balance, objective.

July 28 - 31 Good fortune with discussions, friendships, visits, beautiful conversations where a union of thought, oneness of thinking is powerfully validating. Finances are more positive on the 31st.....lighthearted meetings, dealing with professional projects and negotiations, guidance and advising is all positive now. In general, people are open, intelligent, cooperative.

July 30 Venus inconjunct Saturn You might be considering bowing out of an event. Some hopeful wishful thinking on your part might fall apart, yet is totally understandable - on the other shoe- if you have high hopes for a particular outcome with someone, just be honestly realistically open to talking about a situation, but keep it as short and manageable as possible. Not a good time to emotionally pull on someone or to be pulled on. This awkward social situation isn't the easiest, so tread lightly and be detached.

July 29 2021 - Mars moves into Virgo while opposing Jupiter's last few days in Pisces Mars intensifies order, having things perfect, picking apart words, conversations, negligence, gossip, disappointing things with others....it goes on and on searching for something to criticize.

Just pay attention to ones' urges now to be highly fussy, ruminate over petty things, even things which can't be proven, or you're just sensing this or that has occurred....and also, protect yourself from getting waves of irritations from others towards you or your work, or something you did or did not do correctly - just relax and let this pass. Try not to get entangled in the injustice of this one. Give yourself enough time, resources and good planning to handle responsibilities perfectly, so you don't have to overlap, rush or be exhausted or run out of time or things in order to make these two or three days from the 28-31 successful for everyone.

Mars in Virgo will continue to behave hyper critical, driving us to order and detailed perfection with most of what we do - even about ourselves. It will last up to September 13, 2021. Even greater focus is upon health in all ways throughout this period. It seems to be launching yet another wave of high risk health concerns this weekend. The worst day for confusion over health issues and the need for absolute factual advice is Sept 14 as the peak, and continues on throughout September.

Remember, the push and push back revolutionary vs constraint and control Uranus square Saturn is still continuing on up to December 24, 2021. It has been severely active since February 2021. Globally there is a warning for increased restraint and common sense, some delays experienced regarding situations and things which have been long overdue, and the need for much self control and managing ones private affairs creatively are so important now. Budgeting, saving and creative living is key.

.

www.starfires.com

Consultations & Appointments

sirius@starfires.com

Consider signing up for Starfires Newsletters **Sign Up Here**