

STARDROPS JULY 4 -10

The next ten days' theme is self respect, dignity and believing in yourself. The planets' theme appears to present some sort of an internal conflict going on inside.

The challenge is between emotional pulls, sentiment and feelings of caring and nurturing, adjusting and supporting other situations which really don't have much to do with what you should be doing on your journey versus personal responsibility and a hard dose of reality we need to look at.

Remembering our number one value we're treasuring more than anything in spite of social warm fuzzy connections is possible now. Look for a mysterious wake up call from an invisible presence, sending you a bit of the tough love to remember your purpose. This is a fairly cooperative cycle where strength, courage, love and leadership along with knowing who you are, is combined with pushing through some interference and unusual and maybe even unexpected socially awkward situations. Strength and self respect plus belief in our purpose seems to be the theme.

July 4 Sun in Cancer square Chiron in Aries Hints of setbacks – challenging ones' expectations of security and emotional needs. A potentially sentimental day. Handle Chirons' nature today by concentrating upon future intentions and know, if held long enough with the right motives, in some form, your needs can materialize.

July 5 Venus in Leo sextile Node and Sun in Cancer sextiles Uranus in Taurus

Our heart's need to express itself seeks out some new way to satisfy. Our social and financial activities can make some progress today. Venus in Leo continues to support leadership, self education, creative expression with courageous steps which bring positive opportunities into your life. Along with the Uranus aspect, connecting with special people are likely, and hints of getting closer to incorporating some new form of freedom you want might show how it could be reached. Important meetings, connecting, sharing, reaching out and learning new things all play a strong theme on this day.

July 6 Mercury in Gemini square Neptune in Pisces Today, communication and challenging any type of delusional projections or negative erroneous commentary, no matter who or what or where it is going on. This is actually the tail end of a long month and a half theme with the past Mercury retro which began middle to the end of May. This Mercury has been attempting to provide logical clear focus for those that could listen, while revealing what is a waste of time and potentially undermining values you're not willing to bend on.

So, what would this day present? Possibly one last day of making a conviction to pursue truth and resist slipping backwards into that enticing Neptunian escape for a while, yet not ever getting you ahead. Again, remember who you are.

July 6 Venus at 12* Leo oppose Saturn in Aquarius

Venus is all about our feelings, our heart and that place inside of us that has a need to be with others of like mind. Venus connects us with what we naturally are drawn to that feels beautiful, brings satisfaction. And of course, it rules love. But when it opposes Saturn, we have a job to do, that is presenting some new form of love, mixed with accountability, responsibility and a more demanding form of stiff upper lip to handle some authoritative challenge. It's possible Venus and Aquarius is releasing a tough love message which hits some of us harder than others. Is there some waking up necessary now? What do we need to face? Restrictions in areas of fun, vacations, social events for a day has a backdrop of tension for some reason. This might be simply felt within or out pictured in a global situation. Discipline in ones' skills, design, art, performance and social helpfulness with those who need to see you as the best. People are looking to you for leadership, whether you see yourself in that way or not. Self Respect and Dignity are the themes.

July 7 Venus in Leo trine Chiron in Aries

Your value is the remedy.

Peacemaker is the theme for this day. Making peace, getting over some wounding or hurt feelings. Getting over past problems and bringing more generosity to others which may have been a bit of a challenge in the past.

July 8 Mercury in Gemini inconjunct Pluto in Capricorn Obligations to bend, adjust to change of plans, communication disruptions. Some form of incongruencies occur between job, service, mental activities versus a company, an organization or departments schedule or new priorities. A disconnect could also occur between a plan or perspective versus someone else's behavior. Logical expectations versus bigger agendas and responsibilities, clash. Tense times attempting to have a meeting of the minds. Not the best day for a contract.

July 8 Venus in Leo square Uranus at 14* Taurus Venus strongly encourages us to embrace our values and take care of our own world as we might be up against situations which continue to bring a bit of disruption from our normal routine. This Venus cares about you achieving something important. External situations which truly appear to have a legitimate need interfere here and there with this concentration of yours. Today could possibly bring a moment when this issue surfaces in order to get it settled in your life.

July 9 Mercury sesquiquadrate Saturn in Aquarius Glimpses of how to fix something keep popping in your head This cycle brings nuances to support changes in your life you want to make. At this point, they are mostly thoughts rolling around your mind, with periodic irritations and frustrations. On this day, It would be a good time to call for a solutions to something that has been bothering you.

“I AM confident and grateful the solutions to my situation of _____ is now coming to me quickly. All frustrations and irritations, inconveniences are now rapidly replaced with the most perfect solutions to provide the open door to walk through towards complete success in reaching yet one more piece of my Divine Blueprint today.”

image credit

July 10-14 Venus at 18 - 20* Leo conjoin Mars at 10-13* Leo Children are part of the discussion whether globally or personally.

The merging of Mars' drive and assertiveness and Venus' softness and magnetism towards materializing what it needs could actually bring about quite an intense and refreshing activities compelling one to take action. The two planets provide profound possibilities to enhance performance, popularity, creative arts success and lots of drama going on everywhere.

These two planets could also find you mediating and guiding someone quite strongly, such as a child or loved one, as you assist them accepting some common sense conclusions. Issues connected to social graces, common sense, manners and diplomatic sensitivities towards others are part of what this theme might be. The gruffness and strong ego drives of Mars in Leo is guided to soften and become more considerate, and the vanity of Venus is put in its place by Mars' leadership authority, putting our priorities in the right place.

JULY 9, 2021 New Moon at 18* Cancer
sextile Uranus at 14* Taurus, semi-sextile Mars and Venus in Leo.

The NEW MOON is about security. All things related to security and how to achieve it. What is the security you need? If we quickly ask ourselves that question, the first thing that comes to mind would be top priority on your next two week focus. The sextile to Uranus provides technology? Friendships? Honesty or even help from others supporting your goals. All of us can reach a stronger creative level of confidence as Mars and Venus also support this New Moon.

Movie Link

Starfires

www.starfires.com

sirius@starfires.com

Consider signing up for Starfires Newsletters Sign Up Here