

STARDROPS ..Continue from Sept 5 up through December 2021

Part two Checkmate

Carrying on from the previous article, we have one last long cycle of the Uranus square Saturn, which started February 2021, ending on December 24, 2021.

The entire year, balance, common sense, consistency and maintaining regular effort invested in ones' life, business, personal affairs, is absolutely crucial. In otherwords, don't give up.

Part of the energy is totally inspiring, amazing, ever changing week by week, all around us...including revelations of information and exposure of so many things we had to know.

On the other part of this square are delays, blocks, restrictions and control. Karmic binding sludge that is not just externally restricting us, but creating some sort of crystallization within us that must be dissolved....many feel blocked, uninspired, almost saying they feel tampered with, or externally controlled or repressed, losing touch with the inner inspiration and fire which had always been there in the past.

This can be reversed you know, and turned also against sources of darkness which need to be curtailed, sabotaged, blocked and checkmated weekly as their own Uranus rebellion and ingenuity is funneling into delusional pathways. Saturn says NO, you can't go as quickly as you would like, or not allowed to take this pathway or that avenue - as each path which is attempted, is met with a surprise obstacle. As I wrote in the February STARDROPS, and several others regarding this Saturn square Uranus cycle, each planet can flip, take turns. One planet can be the malevolent one, and the other the positive brilliance making waves against the dark agendas, or you could flip it around, and suddenly Saturn becomes the boundary player containing and handling the renegade Uranus releasing chaos upon the planet in numerous destructive pathways.

So from now, September up to Christmas, we're in the very end leg of the race of this game between these two hugely important planetary energies playing their roles, checkmating, tricking, upping their ante, then challenging, exposing and doing it again. The only issue with this continual game which is really not a game and is not fun, is that it's building and building to an escalation of bigger and more destructive increasing in numbers, weaponry and tactics.

Each side, and, it's heading towards that Pluto Return in the United States Conceptual 1776 astrology chart, which has not been experienced since 1776. Remember, this cycle launches February 2022.

VENUS RETROGRADE IN CAPRICORN CONJOIN PLUTO

The other most important planetary movement is the Venus Retrograde beginning to be experienced late November, peaking exactly December 19, 2021. Its conjunction to Pluto is exactly on December 11 - December 25, 2021.

This is a strong period of accomplishment. It is displayed in the areas of strong values realized, a pay off of hard work with realizing what we value, and willing to defend them.

Secondly, it assists us all financially, professionally and thirdly, socially and romantically, partnerships, friendships, love and the expansion of the heart. In fact, I predict a new culture of love and bonding to emerge as if it were some form of spiritual invisible organization permeating the planet, and those who are in this organization know it, they can feel it, and it is as if we are transformed into an almost unreal world part of the time, and the rest, we are fully operational with our daily physical responsibilities.

More on this Venus later in the year, but definitely something to look forward to.

This cycle should be experienced from Mid-November through the 1st of March 2022.
