

Moving Through The Impasse

Stardrops February 13, 2022 Full Moon in Leo

The World continues to accelerate - faster and faster, not one day is the same as another. Hold tight as things around us become even more surreal, yet progress is being made. Remember the vision - we're changing into our divine selves, which means everything around us must move up.

There are only a few significant astro cycles this week, but one great one to pay attention to, which we'll discuss at the end. The Full Moon cycle in Leo. It's going to be amazing! Let's get on with it, shall we?

February 14 Mercury enters Aquarius Intellectual and analytical conversations based upon very advanced ideas lead to some very important sharing for the future success of self and all.

Feb 16 Mars and Venus conjoined at 17* Capricorn semi-sextile Saturn at 17* Aquarius

The drive of Mars, the motivation and energy poured into constructive systems, planning and engaging in organizational agendas is combined with a social pleasant cooperative support, professional contribution and mature course of action in our lives. In other words, it's a great week for getting the support and listening audience you're looking for.

Feb 18 Jupiter at 11* Pisces sextile Uranus at 11* Taurus

The good will of Jupiter in Pisces rich with Idealistic visions, philanthropic service, visually capturing plans, guidance and deeply seeking meaning in life, this cycle inspires delving into a new level of desiring to hack our illusionary state we seem to be sleepwalking through and bring our dreams into reality.

Are there still things in our lives we are feeding that are unhealthy, stagnant, frustrating but no changes are made over and over, day after day – which must be challenged and eliminated? Honest objective look at our lives, or any organizational life and its patterns would be good now. It's time to share, open up and explore innovative change. The Jupiter in Pisces creates a time for inspired higher guidance, and need to experience something higher, ethereal and out of the norm. The connection to Uranus makes for a positive opportunity of community or friendship, group participation and agreements - and the perfect timing to be cut free, rescued, liberated from oppressive states we've been in for far too long. It's excellent for travel, movement, meetings... and discover new feelings and experiences added to our way of life during this time. The entire process of joining friends, communities and even being incredibly in sync and connected for change would be the beginning of February up to March 3, but continues as a new permanent influence we can now incorporate into our lives forever. This power is about honest objectivity we can easily obtain now, raising our lives up to a higher better existence.

February 18 Sun enters Pisces

The Sun enhances philanthropic motivations throughout this period up to March 20, 2022. Pisces energy become exasperated, frustrated at anything stupid, redundant and anything done shabby or illogical, wasting time, being inefficient or sloppy. It sees the ideal efficiency of energy, time and expertise, and wonders why anyone on earth would ever waste one's energy in living, doing anything less than what could actually be realized.

The power we experience within idealistic dreams, visions and highest creative expression within us all, is the strongest energy for this radiant Sun. Sacrifices made on behalf of causes we deeply care about, along with overcoming passive addictions to sabotaging patterns would be meditated upon now. Some of the main themes positive and challenging during this Pisces cycle would be impatience for change, reaching a more perfected goal, making it to the next level of, anything, along with experiencing emotional frustrations over incompetence, haphazardly done projects or observing others' behaviors and narratives leaving us in absolute disbelief...these are all Piscean issues. Even though many have experienced a disconnect from their present reality throughout the past several years, this Pisces cycle would be that moment when we all realize we need to wake up from the negatives a sleepwalking state of disconnect from one's body – feeling as if we're living in a dream, checking out partially, with just enough of us engaged to go through the motions of our daily life's tasks...escapism in all forms, along with looking for the savior to come and rescue us.

One of the harder energies of Pisces challenges would be also waking up to tragedies compounding, such as any activities regarding medical, clinical, physical suffering and ailments of any sort. An increase of awareness as to any of us possibly living in someone else's segment of reality instead of our own, being captured, deceived or lied to. Whatever it is about in your own world, it's time to wake up.

Full Moon in Leo

*Theme: After a long build up of strange uneasy issues, the Full Moon symbolizes reaching a point of courageous commitment to a cause, a purpose and will to fully be engaged in one's perfect direction. *

Feb 16 2022 Full Moon Leo/Aquarius square North/South Node at 27* Taurus/Scorpio; Moon 28* Leo inconjunct Pluto at 27* Capricorn.

From February 16 on...for the next few weeks the Full Moon in Leo, Sun in Aquarius symbolizes moment in time where we bask in the light after weeks of working overtime to find one's inner conviction, power and clarity with important decisions for your life.

These decisions ignite a fire under you, moving you into action to fulfill your next important steps. It continues to provide quality of life of the heart, drawing upon your own will and confidence with your decisions. It supports your continued alignment with your spiritual purpose.

Emphasis is upon a culmination of reflection on one's priorities, one's purpose in life, and what truly matters now. It's been building for the past few weeks or even months. Aquarius is intuitive, tuned in, supernatural insights and inner guidance. It's about freedom and remaining free, independent no matter what transpires on the planet.

Emotional freedom inspired by the Moon in Leo, banking upon that inner confidence and empowerment in one's desire to live a life that is worth fighting for. Leo Moon intensifies our will and determination to thrive, have the guts to be who we need to be, taking action with purpose and self-assurance.

Some situations which might play into this Full Moon would be regarding our children and education, upbringing, decisions with children's lives and future might resonate for you, as to a better more sound lifestyle and direction, which culminates up to this Full Moon date, Feb 16.

Purchasing of metals, changing ones' investments to ensure security and recognizing what things in our life we desire to preserve, which things brings powerful joy and inner peace for us? Ensuring these things are honored and pursued could be the culmination of the past few weeks insights as to h

By the time we have a full moon, we have already been working hard towards some important issues, attempting to plan them out and put them in place by February 16.

Now the full moon is here, settling into our conclusions we've made, our culmination of efforts, understanding and inspired reasons behind our projects or activities we have invested so much of our energy into recently, and allow these plans to blossom. This would be the culmination time of our hard work figuring out the new plan of action. This is what full moons are for - reaching culmination, then sitting on that beautiful view and processing that achievement.

Some Important Full Moon in Leo Themes...

Love and sharing, romance, relationships and tending to the heart, getting down to how you really feel deep inside, being in total complete touch with your truth now, will make the difference for the direction you know you need to go into for your immediate future now.

We've reached the Impasse...

The full Moon possesses great Will to achieve through love, yet squares the nodes, so fully expect outside forces to fight against your heart's guidance now. Expect that outside noise to complain, whine, argue and defy your truth. This can happen to you personally, or we witness this oppositional strain upon our truth, others' truth, even globally over the past two to three weeks or so..however, the Full Moon is the moment when it reaches a maxed out culmination of purposeful conviction with no more wavering – and then is fully engaged in one's purpose.

Truth and courage versus status quo, the old economic style and the familiar controlling patterns, will all be severely challenged.

The Moon in Leo inconjuncts Pluto in Capricorn during this time symbolizes the most bizarre illogical disconnected and incongruency with crucial conversations. Facts, discussions, information and decisions are terribly out of joint with the passion, the intuitive desire to thrive, take charge of one's destiny and truly live life. It's an out of sync roadblock of disruptive collision and collusion of ideas clashing, but instead of a fight, it's an awkward out of sync unconnected posturing which can now be stuck and frozen for a while, until the next huge astrology cycle kicks in, which will be when Mars, Pluto and Venus conjoined in Capricorn on February 28 – March 5, 2022, Peaking March 2, 3.

Nicholas Roerich-The River

This disjointed standoff called an inconjunct which has been building up to February 16, requires a back and forth presenting of issues, not expecting either side to fully relate to the other person's or sides position, but with the continuing battering away at presenting positions, information and issues, what occurs is a wearing down of the controlling and abuse of power, and breaks down into a truce, even though it might be temporary.

It can happen, the conceding. It occurs because of an agreement to respect the awkward position each side is in, not necessarily relating to the other sides' viewpoint. It is out of recognizing the power each person holds....and realizing the only way to reach a resolution, is for one side to concede more than the other side, and bend with honor, and without too severe sense of defeat. If one side realizes they've no choice but to allow the other sides' choice or path, and see there is no other way without terrible consequences, the truce can occur under an inconjunct. All this is occurring beginning February 16 before March 3.

The Moon in Leo is inconjunct the Pluto in Capricorn (prior to this week, Mercury also conjoin Pluto in Capricorn, (and soon, also Mars and Venus in Capricorn) which means the power of the Leo's right to secure one's quality of life is out of sync with the entire Capricorn materialistic controlling activities.

To size this up, the key for our progress, the solution for this standoff of two incredibly different worlds, is for a total surrender of the Capricornian control which in this case has become rigid with status and crystallized into meaningless endless systems, devoid of the natural spontaneity of life which enhance our hearts and everything good...to surrender to the highest most beautiful heartfelt path for the greatest welfare of our Aquarius' Freedom and Leo Love and quality of Life.

Beginning February, striving for our personal Freedom (Aquarius) and incredible quality of love and life (Leo) is worth everything. This cycle can stir your heart to experience emotions leading you to a higher form of living. The fact this Moon is out of sync with the materialistic control concentration of power and structures which appear to have the authority and bottom line of order for the entire world of humanity should give us a clue as to how we must proceed. The full moon symbolizes this week, the culmination of several weeks prior of reflecting and planning what must be valued and what we can shift (the inconjunct), in order to make our life once again, right.
