

APRIL 10 2022

STARDROPS

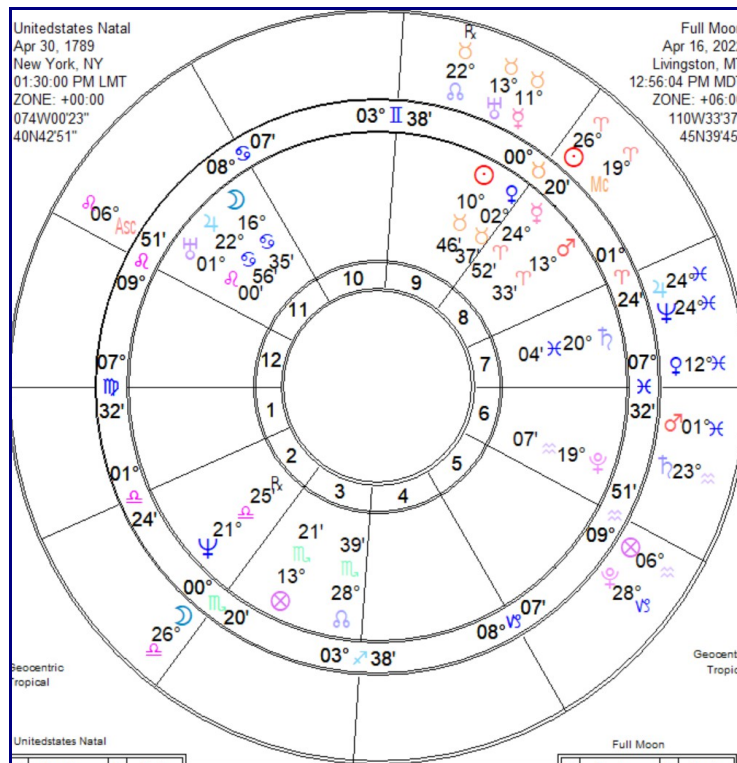

This Stardrops is a mixed bag of Global Warning (not warming) for a time period of now up through April 18th as phase one, then continuing up to the next Solar Eclipse on April 30th as phase two, in addition, mixed with a more personal approach in which a new theme presented for all of us. The theme is derived from the upcoming Full Moon as it has been building from the New Moon on April 1.

Continuing on that theme of Aries New Moon, the embracing of the real self, working on personal accepting a new self, new road in life, and the Full Moon's symbolism of putting behind us, something which is now time to end. this is because of two things – Pluto in square to the Sun and Moon, creates closure and shutting the door behind us on some big thing, an old way or self, and secondly, because Full Moons' in themselves, create culminations of something which has been building, gaining momentum up to the Full Moon, then we reach a culmination or a COMPLETION of a decision, a realization and even possibly a way of life.

Before we go into the day by day astrology leading up to the Full Moon section, let's take a look at the two U.S. Astrology Charts in relation to the Full Moon this coming week especially April 16 – 18th, as it is looking pretty serious right now. We definitely have some work cut out for us.

The U.S. Astrology Charts, 1776 and 1789 and the Full Moon in Libra April 16, 2022

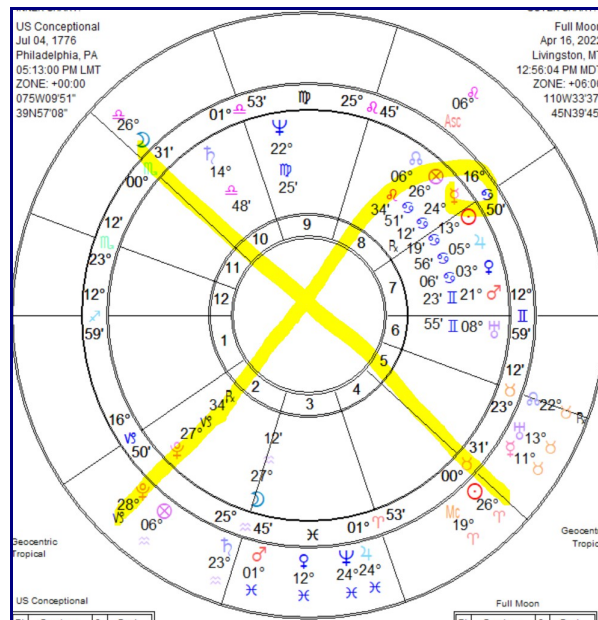

Below, the Full Moon is shown in the outer ring – notice the Sun in the upper right at 26* Aries conjoin the U.S. Mercury at 24* Aries – notice how it is at a right angle to the Jupiter in the upper left 11th house at 22* Cancer, and oppose the Full Moon at 26* Libra down at the bottom 2nd house, conjoin the U.S. Neptune at 21* Libra retro and both the top right and bottom left planets are also in right angles to the Transiting Pluto at 28* Capricorn in the lower right had 5th house (outer ring), forming a Grand Square. This configuration is a power,action, stand off, a moment where dark deeds could play out for some destructive surprise release of weaponry or display of extreme power, involving a vulnerable public, in some way. With the Neptune involved, there is mystery as to who did it. Lies, deception and scapegoating is part of the event. Fortunately, Pluto Sun and Moon have already moved passed the exact connection to the U.S. Mercury and Jupiter, however, it might still magnetically pull an event – especially because the Full Moon is in square to Pluto at 26-28* so closely and 2ndly we're already walking through dangerous times.

The 2nd chart, see below, the U. S. 1776 chart has a similar Grand Square. Again we are concerned about the involvement of Pluto in the 2nd house conjoin the U.S. Pluto, squaring off the Full Moon on the upper left top 10th house, and squaring off the Sun at 26* Aries on the bottom right 4th house, and oppose Mercury in the 8th house upper right at 24* Cancer.

These aspects trigger that potential moment when a decision to pull the ripcord on some event might take place because of the Mercury involvement. Financial economic death and ending of a system, the attempt to manipulate and control economic outcomes from a 10th house position which means total governing over the world with a system, is/could be attempted. It can also be a seemingly unrelated dramatic event played out before our eyes (public 10th house) in order to distract or cause a reason to take further action to fix an economic crisis. This is because the Pluto/Mercury alignment square the Full Moon, is coming from the 2nd house of banking systems, and the value or lack of, things, money, people, etc...the 2nd house is about the value of everything and here is where we're experiencing that 2nd revolution situation which kicked in exactly February 22, 2022. (For more information on this epic event, a nice compilation can be found, HERE.)

Here is an important AFFIRMATION we could make in order to diffuse these planetary aspects.

I AM now calling down divine invincible order, perfection, freedom and enlightened leadership in all ways. Place the Highest Order of the Mind of God over all leaders of the world, those who are of the light and especially those who are not, and completely take command of their psychology, their karma, their decisions which have epic impact upon the world, to be only for the betterment of humanity, for thriving, protection, peace and prosperity, freedom and free will choice, always.

Consume the negativity of this Full Moon now, and any other challenging astrological planetary aspects in time/space, now and in the future for planet earth. We accept this done this hour in full power, Amen.

We'll go into more of the Full Moon later, but first, let's run through this week's cycles

April 10 Mercury square Pluto A day filled with serious important decisions based upon realities at hand. Not the best date to conduct important meetings where you are required to present options, situations or suggestions. Not the best date for communication, contracts or dealing with challenging power structures. Hard facts are presented.

April 10 – April 28 Mercury enters Taurus where our minds are concentrating upon our money, expenses, practical financial and business things.

It increases our sense of worth, value, our products, our professional expertise which provides opportunity to increase or stack our value. Plans, designs, engineering and constructive planning is part of this Taurus Mercury.

Practical projects involving building, construction, gardening, purchases of long term assets of value are part of this cycle. Any focus upon projects or work which has a motivation for income and security, stability behind it is part of this.

April 12 Jupiter conjoin Neptune Link Very important theme we have been discussing for a while now – don't miss reviewing this important cycle, link above, as it should be seen as the dominant theme of the Month, creating an opportunity to soften all harsh war / extreme posturing in the world. It can also inspire us, bringing visions of great possibilities for us to throw our anchors on for the rest of our year's aspirations.

April 12 Sun sextile Saturn Beautiful connections with solid people who support, get what you are about, cooperate, reach out, be hired by them, you hire another – give a thumbs up, employ, establish a partnership and build constructive relationships in order to fix something, complete something, cut through and get important tasks done, is occurring now. It can soften our interactions with others, receive support, help.

April 14, Mars enters Pisces The intensity of Pisces' idealism, projecting longing onto the future, belief in a dream, speculations, fantasies or idealistic creative work is now in the air. Medical, clinics, therapy, procedures, psychological work, involvement with those who are suffering, have incurred loss, are down and out – depressed or riddled with anxiety or fear. Mars can either aggravate these situations in our lives or inspire us to help. The vulnerability of Mars in Pisces would be unreliable unstable people emerging in our lives, they pop up and cause trouble, depending where this Mars is situated in your own houses of your natal chart.

April 17 Mercury sextile Venus Happy outcomes of meetings, exams, study, tests, events where positive outcomes, ideas are exchanged. Get your schedule out and coordinate with another and plan events for your future. Harmonious meetings.

April 18 Mercury conjoin Uranus An unstable day for decisions. Potentially disruptive events reported. Erratic, impulsive, poor judgment on the part of leaders....mind is a bit crazy. This day is strange, you/we might feel absolutely nothing, or, sudden unexpected events challenge our normal flow throughout the day. Be on the cautious side if venturing into unknown. Breaking news could happen on this day.

April 18 Venus sextile Uranus Positive and exciting, stimulating interactions, planning and discussion of planning are key today. Unique unusual and hopefully, fun connections with others, however...

April 18 Sun square Pluto Even though the Venus sextile above, helps with love, meetings, get-togethers and other nice events, Sun Square Pluto is not the best sort of situation especially since it is lining up with the Full Moon situation on April 16th. False flags from the 15th – 19th, peaking on 18th could occur. Ego clashes, threats, confrontations, posturing and stand offs, for sure. Bad decisions can be made from those in power.

What also occurs on this day are bits of competitive behavior and trigger happy energies, even though it might appear subtle at first, things could rapidly get out of control. Challenges to our future creative plans, ideas or financial calculations or what we feel is right and entitled could disturb us. See more, below – in the full moon paragraph.

April 19 Sun enters Taurus The Sun entering Taurus brings opportunity up to May 20 for increasing our values, re-evaluated what is of value and worth, and gratitude for what we have in our life, what we have experienced in the past. Concentration upon our own personal resources, It is a very physical get stuff done, cycle. It is a cycle of cherishing, love, increasing our appreciation for the things around us at our disposal, and taking stock in our assets, our talents, our resources.

April 16 Full Moon at 26* Libra

You would think a full moon in Libra would be all about relationships, gentle cooperative interactions and peaceful times. Normally? Partly true. But it is more about your own personal self in relation to the world around you, your self versus friendships, leaving behind a certain way you perform in life, have behaved.

It could even be symbolic for a leaving behind the way we viewed and knew the world.

The world before this Full Moon, and the world after the Full Moon.

Because Pluto is in a hard angle to this Full Moon, (square the Sun and Moon,) it requires an ending of the way one has always seen self in relation to others and your old life, and deciding to be more of that True Self, regardless of the consequences. We have no choice now. We must pull it together and move ahead with a stronger self in relation to the world and to our close people.

Libra's energies are so lovely and personable, but in square to Pluto, they appear to be challenged, denied or unable to produce the results they once could.

The detriment of Libra is to be liked and accepted no matter what the price. To trust "if I cooperate, please and be nice, surely I'll be safe and get what I need to survive."

Pluto square a full moon in Libra challenges us to stop being naive, pretending and end superficiality. Give more, expect more, go deeper, make situations a bit more uncomfortable for self and maybe for another, and learn to face a harder truth in life about, well, life.

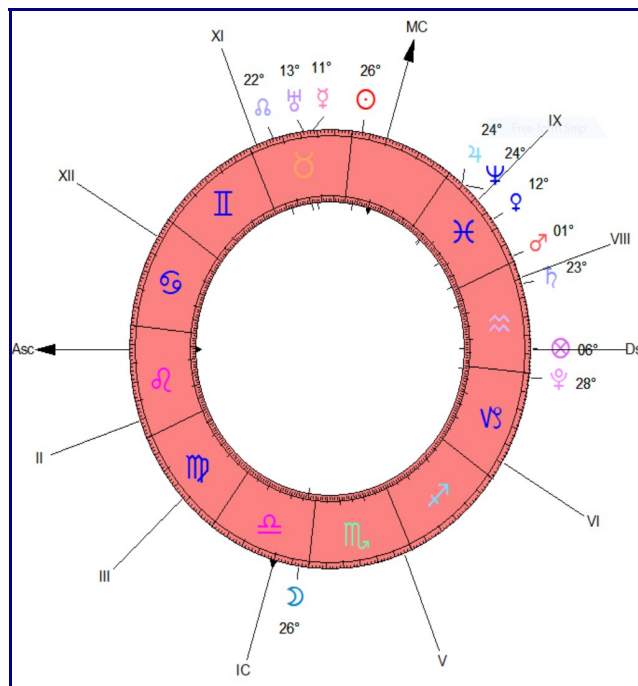

Embracing the new vision of your life, future and Self you have worked so hard at especially since April 1, project your true self image out into the world of your people and commit to be your full self, regardless of how they once saw you, or how they knew you, or what they might expect you to be like for their comfortability will be your new strength. Because this Full Moon squares Pluto, one might need to put an end to an old accustomed nature or how one has always related to yourself, your identity, body, old style or old life in some way. Now, embracing the purge, the closure and going through the hard new choices will be an exciting adventure, and one must move forward with the plan! It will be fun!

This full moon is the culmination of accomplishment within of embracing how you feel, what you are, how you want to live your new life, regardless of how others might react. It is the ending of something you began preparing for, late March, early April.

Full Moons are the crescendo of the path you began end of March, the New Moon cycle, which occurred April 1, up to the Full Moon, April 16. This is where we see a culmination or completion, of some goal or agenda we had in mind, which could help us feel we've come far with our sacrificing.

We begin some new journey on the New Moon, and it reaches a climax on the Full Moon which represents our journey coming to a full maximized potential. Whether it was a thought or idea – or a goal, which began April 1, a new journey which honors and intensifies our own personal I AM identity (Aries) versus the old self/ego old identity, a new conviction to become our real self, and be who we have always known we should truly be – it doesn't matter what the journey is (was) it reaches a culmination on the 16th, the date of the Full Moon. Basically, you are now able to be your full true Self, because of so much you have gone through in the past, you now have nothing to lose.

Full Moon in Libra

Reflect backwards, and acknowledge something important about our latest thrust for regaining Aries (New Moon) control over our life, environment, home, family, projects etc... we regain some form of control and excitement, new beginning or a new vision we must have now, in order to have a real assessment we're moving towards an important point in our lives. Don't worry if it's not clear – you're creating and making it. When you're there, you'll know it!

This success can be physical, spiritual, professional, or simply taking one more step towards our ultimate destination.

Full Moons can increase vulnerabilities within the earth regards to wars, attacks, political posturing and alliances, also the weather and earthquakes, natural disasters, especially... if Heliocentric planets oppose and/or square each other at the same time, as this can also trigger geo disruptions, tornadoes, storms, earth instability. They can also trigger unstable powerful people in leadership to become even more desperate.

(Heliocentric transits are noticed out in the solar system from the vantage point of the Sun, looking outwards)

April 14 – 20, peaking exact April 20 Helio Mercury at 26* Cancer oppose Helio Pluto at 26* Capricorn and Helio Mercury at 14* Leo square to Helio Uranus at 14* Taurus, April 18 – 23, followed by....

May 14 – 20 Helio Mercury from 14 * Scorpio oppose Helio Uranus at 14* Taurus.

Especially if Uranus is involved, a potential for accidents, disruptions, unexpected events of this geo/earth nature could play out peaking April 15 – 20th dates. In addition, we also have during the Full Moon, a t-square to Pluto, almost exact on the same time, peaking the 16th – 18th of April.

How to interpret all of this personally would be certain issues coming to a head that must be handled, usually a bit of ego confrontation, pressure coming from another person's opinion or need versus your own personal triggers being activated.

Aprils' Helio Uranus square Helio Mercury and oppose Helio Pluto, and in May oppose Helio Uranus, energetically, can project some unexpected and highly unusual events to come out in the news, in the world, and also you personally becoming more aware of something unexpected or abnormal that would need to be learned or revealed. Electronics, Solar disruptions, Electrical problems, communication and internet issues are possible. Only because it's lining up with the Full Moon square Pluto, and we're heading into a new Solar Eclipse on April 29/30th in Taurus, conjoin Uranus in Taurus, which could create some vulnerabilities in some parts of the world. I don't like to keep harping at this, but get some extra stuff, just in case, before the 18th – 30th of April.

Because Pluto squares the Full Moon in Libra/Aries, be a bit on guard for challenges within relationships where things could appear to reach a bad ultimatum...or any obligation you might have towards another person which is tough and the need to look out for them...any situation where someone might be vulnerable – make no assumptions they can handle any situation, as they might not be so masterful.

Globally, Pluto rules people in power, square to the Full Moon in Aries/Libra, we're dealing with unconventional people, situations, some unstable situations, or possibly the crazy prices, ultimatums, unfair and totally delusional decisions others are making where as Uranus oppose Mercury, humanity completely rejects. Pluto is ending something which has outworn its welcome. It's walking away from some situation which you have just had enough of. It is the door closing on some situation which might have been fruitful for a while, its people, job, circumstances and lessons, but now, it's time to move on.

All this surrounding one little Full Moon

In addition to these ideas, maybe a unique perspective of information (Helio Mercury) presenting unconventional yet exciting documentations regarding humanity (Helio Uranus) fits the description nicely! Following, an entertaining Video I thought you might enjoy.
