The Main Themes are:

1. Solar Eclipse in Taurus – April 30, 2022 (correction)

The Solar Eclipse in Taurus conjoin Uranus, April 30, (Mercury retro May 10, Lunar Eclipse May 15th) is strong for two weeks, then sets a trend for five months. Abrupt awareness of the need for action taken to secure your best future. A more dynamic action taken which can result in greater freedom for yourself or in national/ global situations. Actions are dynamic, bold, dramatic coming from leadership, altering outcomes and trends, and also in changing your life around, changing money, strong guidance etc....this is the new energy – awakening towards freedom and making a powerful shift.

2. Mercury retrograde is coming

The upcoming Mercury Retro on May 10 in Gemini and how it is even now beginning to guide your thinking toward a new plan of action you really should consider taking action on.

3. Planets in sextiles highlighting conversations, meetings and intelligent exchange planning.

In this article, everytime you read the word, sextile, think of two points (planets) in space 60 degrees apart from each other. This 60 degree angle, actually creates a frequency of cooperation, love, sharing, information, helpfulness, openness and support. The series of sextiles and a few other nice planetary aspects now up through May 8. These nice aspects help us with making important decisions and gaining support from others when we need help with anything. It can be financial, employment, work related issues, details we need to get right, health and medical, daily tasks and errands, paperwork, protocols we must go through. Sextiles bring cooperative meetings and conversations into our lives whether global, business or personal, so we don't feel alone, and gain the intelligent advice we're needing. During this time on earth, we have an incredible number of sextiles to enjoy an use to our advantage, to give and receive cooperation, key information, answers leading to greater well being.

Stardrops April 24 2022

April 26 -28 Venus at 24* Pisces conjoin Neptune

These are days where faith and trust are engaged. You will want to concentrate upon whatever prompts you to commit to a positive future plan that will carry you towards your ultimate outcome you desire. Then through perfecting this vision and laying out the design of the ultimate end results which is practical and brings to you a sense of achievement, you can capture that Piscean faith and belief in that uplifting energy brings our plans to life. Even against so many trials and tribulations! Love, higher aspirations, music and focusing upon special insights providing a healing energy, can also calm and uplift your spirits on these days. Any situation requiring medical, therapy, recovery, rejuvenation is positive now. Also artistic inspiration and initiating some project which is aesthetic yet emitting a field of protection, such as re-designing your rooms, placement of objects, pictures or crystals, and/or personal body work and also, energetically taking care of your home and car. Any attention to protection and strengthening your forcefield is so positive now.

Venus at 27* Pisces conjoin Jupiter and sextile Pluto

April 30 – May 1

With Venus, our artistic, musical, aesthetic planet, conjoin Jupiter, the planet of expansion of good will, competence, wisdom and in Pisces, compassion and healing energies, making a sextile to Pluto, increasing the will, determination to engage in some plan, event or scheduling of more structured, serious outcomes that you desire to achieve now.

Interpretation...

Now is the time to take action to reach out and coordinate plans, appointments, research and meetings in order to move forward on either artistic, musical and spiritual events. It is an excellent time for any sort of self care.

This cycle also enhances good fortune for any Piscean Neptune positive outcomes which is involving body, therapy, medical, rejuvenation and health (physical health of your body or mental psychological rejuvenation). People in your life are helpful and careful to connect with your situations in order to provide support and caring.

Jupiter sextile Pluto April 20 – May 10, peaking on May 3

Jupiter and Pluto work well together for positive optimistic planning, collaboration involving some complex projects our situations, which require trust in each other, good will and a strong grasp on an eventual end result everyone is going for in the future.

Finances are usually positive during this period, and people around you have confidence in whatever you and they are discussing or moving forward on, during these dates. It's a good sign whatever you are planning, is going to work out one way or another.

April 20-24 Heliocentric Mercury square Heliocentric Uranus and oppose Heliocentric Saturn

Here is one of those tricky Mercury/Uranus problems we want to negate and divert its energy, especially since April 15 2022, certain Mercury aspects along with Uranus, Helio and Geo with other planets' positions, have been stirring things up. It is a series of Uranus transits and Uranus conjoin the Solar Eclipse (below), where we were concerned about false flags occurring in major cities, sudden unexpected information coming out in the news, and other erratic disruptive events causing a continual sense of uneasiness (such as shootings, bombings and various food processing plants burned down, things like that).

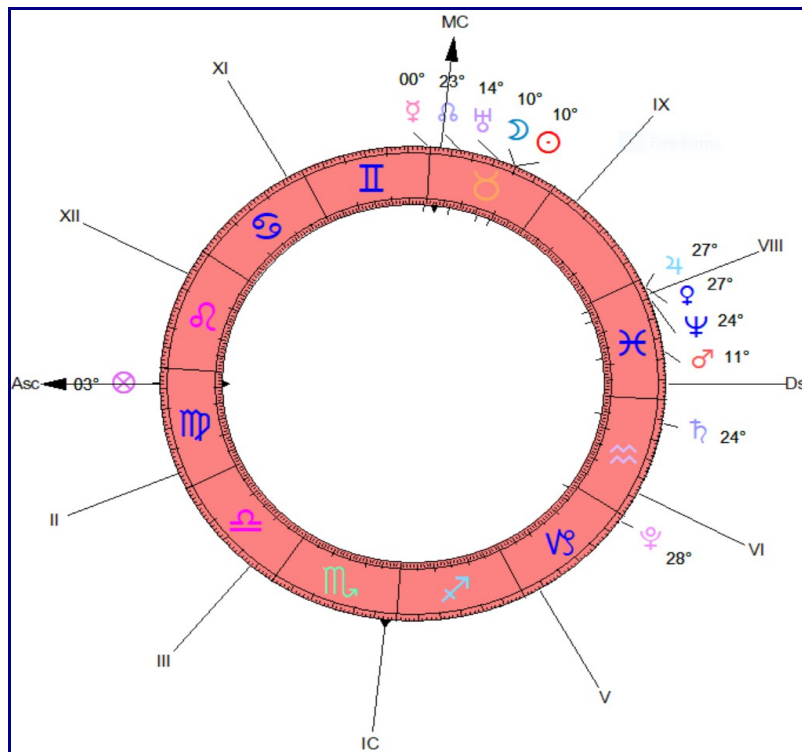

These Helio planetary stresses can energetically cause tension on the earth, and therefore, weird and dramatic weather and earthquake events can occur right during these peaks, because they disrupt the Sun, and therefore can disrupt certain positions on the Earth which line up with these Sun eruptions.

April 30 Solar Eclipse at 10* Taurus (Sun and Moon conjoined in Taurus) conjoin Uranus at 14* Taurus sextile Mars in Pisces.

This will be a five month theme beginning April 30 prompting continual questioning of causes and motives behind all the crazy going on in the world that has effected every one of our lives. It increases Taurus Power urges within us. It also symbolizes revolutionary steps taken to ensure freedom in several areas for those who still desire it, and teaching us how to use the tech needed to thrive without abandoning our nature and connection to the Real Earth and natural way our bodies require to live each day in order to truly feel alive.

Breaking the Trance of decades of subtle and many times obvious bombardment of shock and drama hitting us all, expecting us to succumb, react and handle what is being put upon us all to live under, whether it is in our own personal situations, and especially globally. This solar eclipse conjoined by Uranus, is bravery and powerful instigator to continue our journey of waking up and desiring to reclaim our freedom again.

This is a strong cycle launching our new future, a new world.

Here we have yet another Uranus energized cycle creating unexpected events and disruptions. Yet, any disruptions personally and globally now, will also ignite a different response from within. Even if disruptions occur, something compulsively questions the evidence, facts, researches the backstory, and takes much better care in investigating options and angles in order to truly see what the right course of action should be to take...and again, this is applying to our own personal issues we're having to analyze along with sudden situations we might need to respond to happening in the world around us.

To have this Uranus aspect in a Solar Eclipse event, paints the theme of disruptive and revelatory information coming out in order to continue realizing the truth and highest path of action to take.

Also, there might be drastic sudden changes and shifts regarding all topics involving money. Warning-one path might be presented to solve the problem. With Uranus conjoin a solar eclipse, there are other options individuals in leadership roles, will provide and launch in order to offer a more real tangible path economically.

This cycle could begin the process of launching a new money system in some way, or at least, serious discussions surrounding it and putting measures in place to secure alternatives. Because of the sextile, below, questioning our individual rights and freedom will be seriously discussed and expected to be respected, with any new information coming out projected upon the population. It is all part of the process of launching a revolutionary solution spread into where and how we engage and observe news, social media, and our ways of networking information across the planet. This cycle is a tremendous impetus towards our desire for a freer way of living based on truth.

Uranus sextile Mars in the Solar Eclipse

Remember, sextiles bring conversations to the table in harmonious cooperative ways that otherwise would not happen so easily.

With this, Solar Eclipse, it will eclipse all other minor themes going on in our lives and cause us to focus upon one thing now which we desire to physically bring about in our lives. What is that thing you are requiring to bring to the surface and plan out, engage and embrace in the realization of your top priority during April 30 for the next few weeks. This is always a take action moment.

With Uranus making a conjunction to the Solar Eclipse and sextile Mars in Pisces, embrace an ideal, a dream, and move on it in some capacity now, while we have this wonderful grace period on earth. So far, we are holding the line with our consciousness, our everyday work, hearts' love and mental attitude.

This cycle will also impact the world by launching us into that Aquarian Age futuristic shift. This is because of Uranus' role it plays in the Solar Eclipse event. Uranus is the planet which rules Aquarius, and Aquarius is all about progressive freedom, liberation, advanced technology organized to assist not control the human race, a natural desire to be free.

Organizations, communities are launching forums, membership groups and commitment to consistency with involvement with these communities and gatherings with professionals from all over the world. The amazing people showing up bring ideas and specializations to the table for the global humanitarian progress, while at the same time, we are in a weird war on so many levels.

Uranian brilliance pours out from so many sources, limiting and controlling systems are unable to reign this liberating genius and innovation in.

One subject will stand out publicly at this Solar Eclipse time, in order to be dealt with, and with Uranus connected, again, we have revelations, transparency, the shocking and unexpected erupting into a major issue which inspires some public figures and leaders, to initiate big changes in our world. The sextile of Uranus, Sun and Moon to Mars in Pisces, shows a rapid communication and sharing of unconventional liberating transparency shared among networks of people everywhere, producing solutions to issues which are being presented on the world scene. It's happening to you and also, within the global scene.

April 17 – 28 Saturn square Nodes

Saturn holds us accountable, and many times Nodes represent money and how certain realities economically and/or other crisis which could seriously impact our economic health, and how certain segments of our population will react to these issues. Saturn on the one hand tells us something difficult and restriction is playing out on the world scene, projecting limitation and forcing certain financial solutions to unfold.

The other part of a Saturn square, is about the public being forced to get square with these restrictions. This means, questioning, and taking in the totality of the truth about these Saturnian pressures and restrictions. The square can create a bit of a down time in business and economy, or target spending, social trends or something which relates to social behavior and money, accountability going on everywhere during these dates.

Personally it is a very good time to analyze your own situations, and work with your money and budget, streamline or move towards taking actions to secure your quality of life. Look squarely at any form of potential restrictions occurring now or in the future. This will help us plan and get real with any situation in our lives we're dealing with and follow the higher Saturn in Aquarius' lead, shoot for independence and freedom. That is the true message of Saturn in Aquarius now.

Mercury conjoin Node, square Saturn

April 20 – 25 exact April 24

Along with Saturn square Nodes in regards to evaluating our time/money and our values and worth, Mercury also conjoins the Node bringing a mental analytical element to this need to concentrate upon the reality of our immediate situations. In other words, it isn't just a mechanical gut instinct reaction we go into with this square, but our minds are engaged analyzing the situations which are presented to us.

Mercury assists us to mentally analyze, prioritize and process dates, logistics, money and feasibility from a variety of options and information at hand. We are making important decisions and asking hard questions, forced to do some reviewing, data strategy, accounting and planning, research, scheduling important events and confronting the problems square on. It helps us get square with a tight schedule, or a tight timeline we sense we are in. It's time to calculate how we can accomplish something important.

You'll want to push through any resistance or density which usually comes from a Saturn aspect and desire a way to fix something stuck, broken, or not working in your life properly...and also set up a system or arrangement to fix it and move beyond that old frustration.

MERCURY RETROGRADE IN GEMINI MAY 10 2022

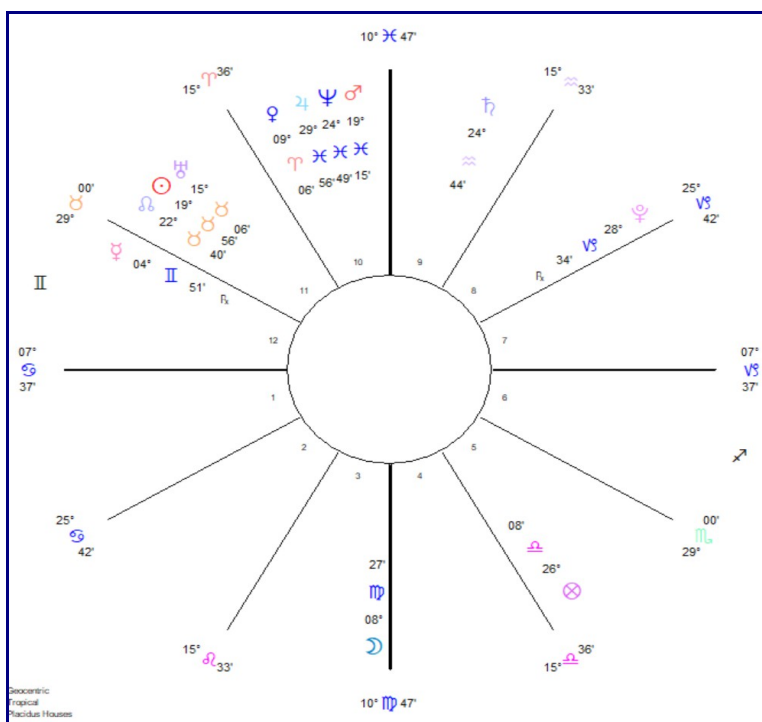

Begins May 1 – June 3, 2022 at 4 degrees Gemini

Mercury in Gemini intensifies our minds' concentration upon an idea, an inspiration which won't leave us alone.

Expect some concept to come in to your view, penetrating your thoughts competing for your attention beginning now, leading up through May 10. The theme is about a piece of information, a decision made and the addressing of an important issue is now which is important for your future happiness.

It helps your life in some key way. It's a new concept, or thing to ponder, or go learn, or study. It might lead to a new connection which is good for you, and it's already beginning to inspire us, as we move into the last week of April.

The Mercury retro square Moon in Virgo, is helping us pinpoint an issue that has been nagging us. Get over the injustice or irritation of the thing, and let's just fix it in the manner Mercury is guiding you to handle it properly. The details are important. Perfection is key in order to fix the issues. Let go of feeling inadequate, or not being enough. Focus instead upon the problem, and get it out of the way.

Look forward to this new insight, capture the vision given to you by a guidance who knows exactly what you need to hear, discover, in order to move forward in a better place.

It is the missing piece to your Scavenger Hunt for change

This Mercury retro is square the Moon in Virgo, which brings frustrations into the things you worked hard to materialize. They were your inspirations yet some irritant might attempt to ruin them. Just fix it – use the count to five trick. Don't procrastinate, just count to five and tell yourself when you get to five, you'll take action and not overthink the situation any longer, just do it.

April 26- 27 Mercury sextile Jupiter

Mercury will also sextile Jupiter, bringing positive results to all planning, networking, meetings and conversations. It is positive for scheduling important talks, reaching conclusions for yourself or others.

That means any meeting, appointments or scheduling, business directions, important discussions and requests, it will be constructive and helpful.

April 27 – 29 Mercury trine Pluto at 28* Capricorn

Mind is penetrating, focused, energized and ready to engage in whatever it is you desire to achieve.

Very positive for paperwork, writing, speaking, contracts or simply getting your point across.

Excellent for cars, transportation, travel arrangements (if your own astrology matches) and various other every day tasks which require more than ordinary decision making, including working with your money and accounting.

I'm repeating a segment from last weeks' Stardrops, for you to get the feel of what kind of cycle we are in, in regards to planning and interacting with key people in our lives, in order to really cut through and get things done.

Mercury sextile to Venus – April 24 – May 6

Mercury's intelligence interacts socially with friends and helpful people, bringing social compatibility, harmony, important helpful discussions and alliances with others, meeting eye to eye and reaching positive decisions.

Embracing support and helpfulness in situations which in the past might not have been considered...It's casual yet productive good will and supportive time together with others.

All dates of planetary sextiles continue to bring to us opportunities for learning new things, opening up relating with others, and empowering connections where presenting important information is flowing back and forth. Here are more dates below:

- April 24 Mercury sextile Neptune
- April 26 Mercury conjoin North Node
- April 27 Mercury sextile Jupiter
- April 27 Venus conjoin Neptune idealistically inspired, socially love expansion
- April 28 Mercury trine Pluto,
- April 30 Venus conjoin Jupiter and
- May 1 Venus sextile Pluto
- May 3 – May 8 Mars sextiles Sun and Uranus and Mercury sextiles Venus

Each of these dates are positive experiences for greater harmony with others in our lives and also our witnessing constructive conversations happening everywhere in order to inform, change, support and plan for personal, professional, humanitarian-economic global transformations.

Definitely, you will want to take advantage of April 20 – May 8 where plans for outings, events, important meetings can bring you fun and a more productive feeling in your life. These dates all bring harmonious meetings, arrangements, scheduling, coordinating, events into play.

The sextile are very handy as difficult subjects emerge, discussion can take place in order to move forward with constructive decisions about them.

Take care of your business, important events and decisions or financial plans before May 13 – 16, as that is our next Lunar Eclipse, simply terrible for dealing with any important activities or decisions, purchases or for events to go perfectly at that time.

A quick recap...

Sextile Aspects– opportunities to receive help, support and exchange important ideas

Solar Eclipse – launching change globally, economically, leadership and inspiring more freedom everywhere
