July 23-24
Mercury at 8-9* Leo trine Jupiter at 8* Aries

The week begins with a positive expansive vision. It is a good time to manage our affairs in the coming days. The outlook is confident and ability to master projects and get on top of our tasks is very high right now.

Good fortune with meetings, conversations and planning. It is an exceptionally helpful time for learning, studying or reviewing uplifting information or simply entertainment, time off and relaxing.

July 24
Mercury at 10* Leo sesquiquadrate Neptune and Venus sesquiquadrate Saturn.

The two aspect to Mercury create slight irritations, tiny issues which you could sense, bugging you, but they are not so strong, they emerge into any physical problems or challenges in real time with anyone. If bothered by subtle feelings of anxiety, tiny sensations of something bothering you, and it might even be must someone saying something that triggered you surprisingly, just throw it off, and say to yourself, I AM totally sealed and repel all irritability, disturbing emotions are temptations to make this issue into more than it was intended.

July 27
Mercury at 16* Leo trine Chiron in Aries

Our focus is upon taking care of certain duties, issues which have been unattended to for a while. Now is the best time to just begin, tackle these things, and don't wait any longer. We easily overcome small things which in the past have hung us up.

July 28
Jupiter station retrograde at 8* Leo

As the Planet of expansive good will and motivation has inspired us to start fresh from last May well into 2023, we now turn to an inner wisdom when Jupiter turns retrograde, an internal guidance prompting us to flow right into that new way we want to live and arrange our affairs. The Retrograde Jupiter in Aries is a quieter sense of control in our lives. We accept the assignment. it's more internal, than an aggressive push we might have felt before. Is this regaining control about our physical body? Our Projects and work or spiritual goals, our finances? It isn't about achieving a thing, it's about walking a new way of life. And, it's not a powerful motivation which would push us to take action, it's more of an acceptance we feel, a wisdom, that this is the way, let's just do it and overcome the frustrations in life.

July 26- Aug 3

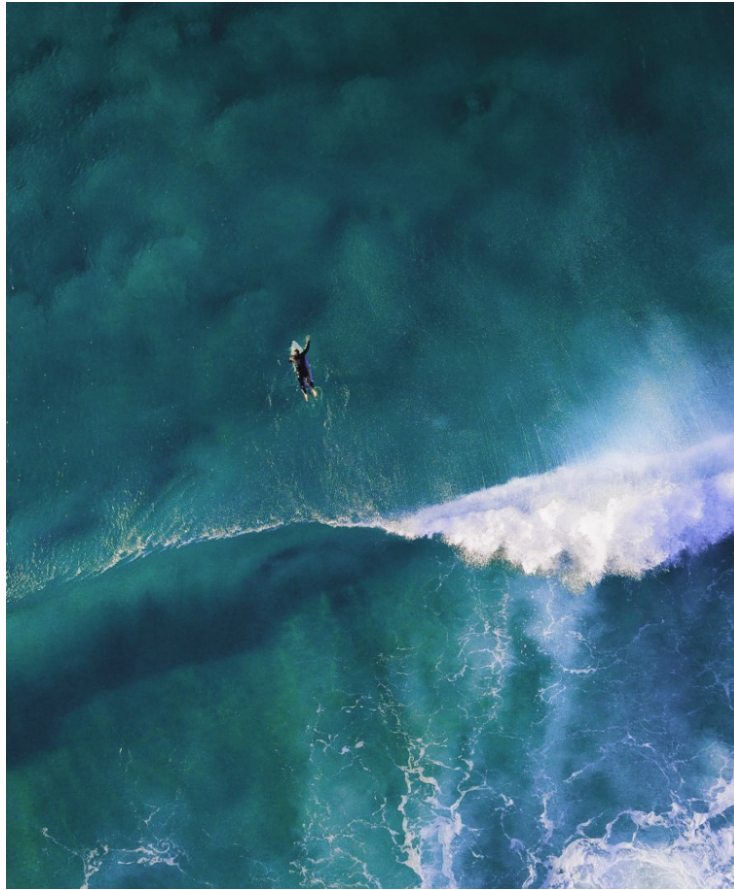

Mercury at 18 - 19* Leo square Uranus, Node and Mars at 15-19*
Taurus and Mars conjoin Node and Uranus exact August 1- 2 - 3

If you've been following Stardrops for a while, you might recall April 29th Solar Eclipse conjoin Uranus where we explored a potent moment in time, which represented the start of a powerful cycle culminating on July 26- August 3.

That Solar Eclipse date combined with Uranus enhanced our consciousness, woke us up even more than before. It was the start of being influenced by higher intelligences in ways that can't be explained. Some say our DNA are activated, while others say the solar system is moving through a unique part of our Galaxy, stimulating higher awareness in all mankind. It might appear as increased desire for freedom, liberation from the old life or existence - trusting more our intuitive nature and stepping up our frequency, our vibrations. Uranus influences us to not want to go back. It is a resistance towards oppression and density of the old ways of thinking and tolerating things that now seem limiting.

You might be more sensitive, effected by things around you that were not so prominent before. Steering away from the more negative choices, situations, conversations or behaviors. There has been a sense of running out of time - a whirl of energy throughout the day accomplishing our responsibilities, yet at the end of the day we are sure it just began a few hours ago. Where did the time go? It's as if time blurs and mastering our physical world is almost like living in a dream. We've talked about this before, most people have been noticing this for a while now, yet it has stepped up even more recently with the Uranus action.

With the release of Mars/Uranus/Node power on July 26- August 3, we are now entered an explosive time where it's reaching a peak of higher frequency, intensity. We are required now to ride a harder wave, where we are increasingly becoming more aware, maybe smarter, sensitive, yet at the same time, desiring to maintain harmony and balance. The waves might cause too much disturbance within but wanting to handle it successfully will be part of the desire at the same time.

Mars and Uranus intensifies mind power

While the increase of sensitivity is increasing, Mars' powerful conjunction to Uranus electrifies the world. As it is rapidly moving towards Gemini, it is a time of powerful conversation, intelligence, objective thinking. Promptings to live beyond an ever increasing restrictive control. These planets trigger in increased numbers of people, the desire for peace and intelligent solutions, a higher form of living. It will be massive, and ever growing. In response to this release of energy, expect an incredibly chaotic period continuing to increase up to October 20 - November 10, when Mars moves retrograde in Gemini. This chaotic explosiveness triggers the most volatile and challenging dialogues, debates, challenges and accusations. People will be in a heightened agitated state. It will be seen in controversial conversations, debates, threatening actions, extreme laws attempting to be passed, punishments, exposures, embarrassments or public disgraces erupting. A total conflict of wills, versus facts and information.

Mars activating Gemini reveals indisputable facts, evidence, documents and video proof of things. It increases information flooding the internet which become so polarizing and controversial, the minds of people are overwhelmed with unconventional views which challenge their thinking. It will be on every level, every side.

This mental energy begins and will seem unstoppable starting July 26th with the Mars Uranus Node conjunction, then intensifying on August 20 when Mars moves into Gemini, then reaching a climactic information war October 25th to November 10th. War is always a potential challenge when Mars turns retrograde, but in Gemini, it might be treaties, resolutions, negotiations, polarizing and posturing.

This Mars energy will continue up to March 2023. Many will feel as if they are riding a wave of new truth, questioning many ways we've lived our lives, our purpose here, and desiring much more meaningful existence based upon truth, transparency. The Mars in Gemini increases an intelligence and refinement in how we see human affairs conducted at every level versus blindly submitting to the old dysfunctional powers.

Mars, Uranus conjoin the Moon's Node can also trigger even more financial disruption, along with alternative money solutions emerging. It isn't that these issues haven't already been playing out for a long while, it's the planetary movement of the Pluto return (February 2022), the Solar Eclipse (April 29, 2022) and now this conjunction (July 26- August 3), then flowing into the Mars retrograde in Gemini (August 20 - March 2023- peaking October 20 - November 10, 2022) which are the latest intense triggers which keep putting so much pressure upon the people, and equally, escalate dangerous reactions from those who are desperate to maintain control.

Mercury at 22* Leo oppose Saturn at 22* Aquarius

A stern, fussy, picky time of expecting a particular outcome, reacting to issues or circumstances which are not to our liking.... almost compelled to point out our dissatisfaction in some thing. Are you on the reacting end of this energy or on the receiving side of it? Try to find your sense of humor, and allow this one to roll off your back, either way.

Paperwork, filing, finances or accounting could emerge at the top of your priority list during the 30th up through the 1st. It's a time to handle some situation which is not to your liking, and you're going to want to address it, in order to straighten it out. Even though you think you're being extremely balanced and diplomatic, there will most likely an energy of much sternness and authority which might come through you now, which can be felt by the other people listening to your opinions.

July 30 - 31

Sun at 8* Leo trine Jupiter trine Aries

Similar to the first cycle at the top of this post, mercury trine Jupiter, the Sun brings an even more optimistic, successful and expansive energy to our day. Good fortune for all important events, vacations, parties, holidays, meetings, taking care of business where improvement and anything where a positive outcome is desired. It' is an auspicious and protected day, a happy energy in general.

August 1

Mercury at 25* Leo inconjunct Neptune at 25* Pisces

For this day, pay attention to what to others are saying, and your own choice of words. Is your communication clear or are you hinting at issues but leaving out important details, assuming everyone gets where you're coming from? Signing papers can be tricky today, as inconveniences might emerge. Purchases, contracts and important meetings simply need to be monitored a bit more carefully for mistakes or leaving one feeling things are fine, when details might be included which are not to your liking. All interactions with anyone can have a glitch – where as you might assume you're moving in one positive direction with confidence, trusting in the competence of another, but to soon discover, it's zig zagging around the main points, leaving one dissatisfied with no point nor conclusion.

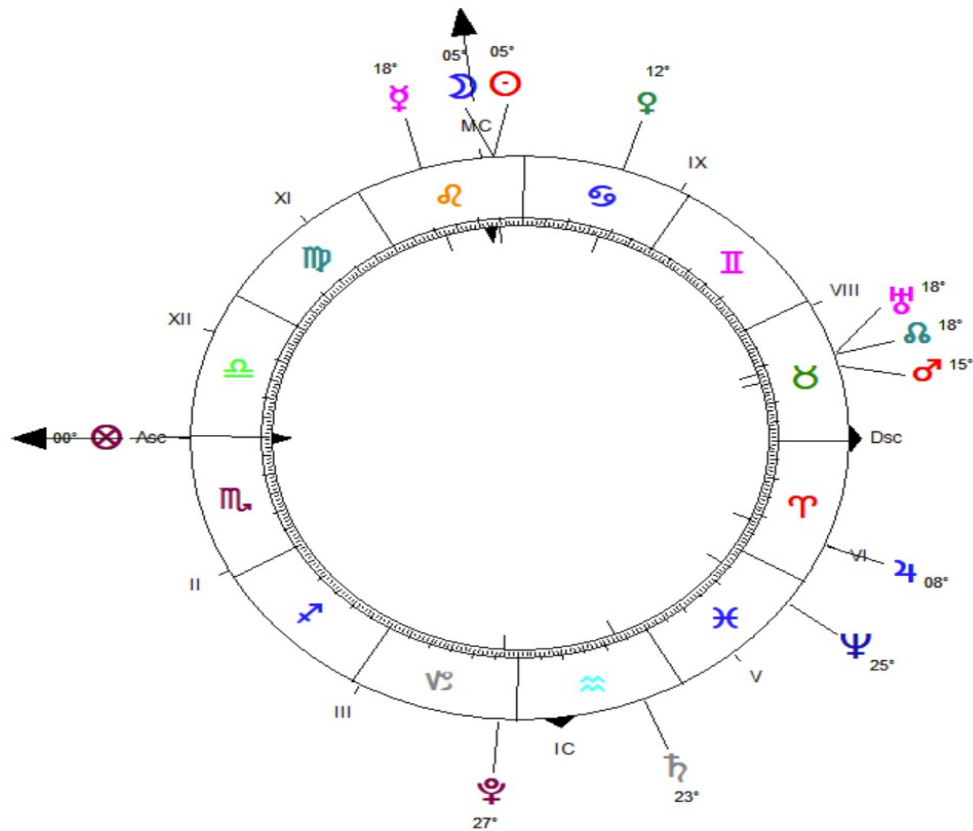

July 28 2022 The New Moon in Leo at 5 degrees trine Jupiter in Aries

The New Moon on July 28 enhances our desire for creative expression, recreation and heart expansion. The power of Leo love and confidence during this time of increased tension in the world, is most needed.

We should expect to experience our inner fire and will to intensify for the organization and management of our lives. Leo provides that flame of authority, dignity and increases our motivation to create quality of life.

Generosity and largeness of heart towards others along with a desire to provide helpfulness, guidance and maybe even be someone's cheerleader in life are noticed with this cycle.

Optimism and forward thinking comes from the mind expanding planet Jupiter and its trine to the New Moon. This is a nice break for us, emanating encouragement towards any creative work with refreshing depth and integrity. Think of any thing you're working on within your life and capture the love which can be released within this cycle to infuse it into your projects. The Leo force tends to cause anything it touches, more interesting. Self advising, self educating, self re-creating some facet of yourself is in store, but not like a Virgo power which focuses upon a mental editing and perfection, but Leo concentrates upon an experience.

New Moon In Leo July 28 2022

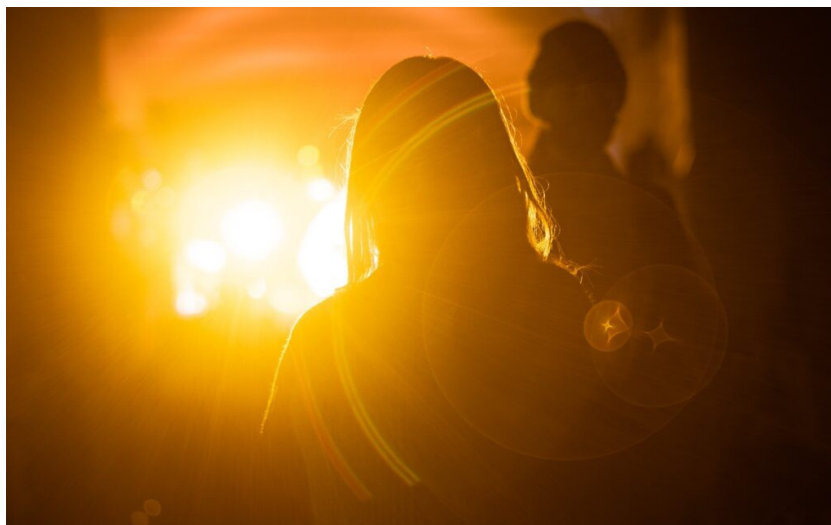

The New Moon wants us to get caught up in the experience of something we could manifest which is taking something common, an every day situation, or job, or personal thing in our environment, a common routine, or our relationships or an event and enhancing it. The enhancement comes from within the Love inside of us to generate that sense of being touched by a creative force that enriches our feelings, delights our minds with something more than we or others expected.

Discovering that much of our ability to design freshness and delight in our environment, our projects or whatever situation we need an infusion of wonderfulness, is going to come from a higher dimensional force which is our Higher Self. It is usually automatic, without realizing how it has come about.

By calling that down into action that magical essence to transform us, resurrect that worn out overwhelmed part of us which is weary on the journey we've been traveling, we are rejuvenated, and brings to life again our world in some fashion.

One of the most interesting moments I experienced recently was when I called for an increase of motivation for some normally mundane situation. I can't remember if it was organizing an office or something mundane, but as I concentrated upon the desire to shift into inspiration to get me through the task, some alteration actually did begin to take hold. Even though I asked for more love, to have more love and enthusiasm for the task at hand, it was as if the love entered my inner vision. I did not expect this. I literally saw MORE.

The vision enhanced, vivified, expanded and everything began to become sharper and more alive? It's difficult to explain, but I realized to increase love and appreciation, it's not just a feeling or emotional state one has in the heart, it can enter into our sight, how we see something, and that is what I believe is being captured by this New Moon in Leo trine Jupiter experiment we could enter into for the next few weeks. Wouldn't it be incredible if part of our July - October enhancement was an increase of the capacity to see more vividly the world and people around us. Something to experiment with as we are the ones bringing into the physical all around us, a new way of life.

Affirmation

“ I AM accepting and holding in my heart the matrix for a new way of seeing all things around me, to infuse my life with greater depth, meaning, more love, more color, more joy. I ask for this light to penetrate and shatter all limiting perception, clearing away the drab, the density and restrictions within my own inner vision. Love embraces my mind and inner sight now and all things are made vibrant, refreshingly new as I AM seeing life around me with new eyes. “
