

A new vision is permeating our thinking, our awareness of who we are and how we're positioned in our world, and I keep sensing its source could be the influence of Mars in Gemini. We're now in the last weeks of Mars in Gemini. that higher minded zodiac sign yet so linear and factual at times. It has been enhancing logical conclusions, decisions, steps to take each day which overrides any procrastination or confusion. It can take us to the next level of progress on our life journey during this strange weird no doubt escalating in weirdness time period, even starting prior to 2020.

Our mental/spiritual energy has been increasing, providing a brighter and stronger intelligence each week, each month, while the contrast of other situations in the world are absolutely degrading into something so bizarre...

Now it's possible the source of all Beauty and Truth is increasing our desire to extended a hand in kindness to those who did not jump on your pathway of truth, but are now struggling, questioning. The new cycle could be our next stage of helpfulness, rather than isolating and intolerance. I see our souls as miracles no matter what level of awareness one has chosen. Over the years, the Light has penetrated everyone in some form, people change, come to new awareness over time and my sense is that many of you who are awake, and have taken that lonely road of higher truths and love, yet struggled with aloneness, now is the time to see yourself as leaders of love extending a little bit of your knowledge, comfort and connection to so many who may have not been as old a soul to leap on that extreme path you chose.

Let's connect with others where we share similar interests and let the rest ride for a while. It's up to you how engaged and invested you want to be with everyone. Now we can see it clearly, our job is to continue to keep moving up in progress. But the cycle of choosing a higher reality in order to be true to yourself, required some separations from others. Some have conveyed to me, the separating happened in order to not feel crazy how different certain people were from their levels of awareness and this has been accomplished. A calling of some sort has occurred, and so separate factions of people vibrating at unique frequencies are evident. Each unique group are slightly or severely unable to relate to the other path offered. But maybe now it's time to meet others' where there are still similarities for many reasons.

Many people who were not awake to all the intense drama which was behind the scenes agendas and events now are questioning what actually happened. They're questioning their self image, their fears, confusion. The beginning of this strange separation began escalated 2015, 2017, and of course 2020 on. The separation became so obvious to me in the beginning of 2012. I feel it started January 2012, then the locking into of this new energetic shift of the separation of types of people from one pathway from another pathway was 2012 December. Let me be clear, this is not about race, culture or religious believes, nor age and generational differences. I've seen it happen everywhere. It's a separation of mindsets, but originates from what level, type of soul we are. It is the pattern, karma, accumulation of exposures of events in past lives which color our souls' pattern. But there is an origin in Cosmos to each soul, and that actually is the fundamental difference between you and so many you know. Who are you and what are you, and where did you come from that makes you so unique! There is an original blueprint inside that is dictating why are are aware of so much, and others might not feel compelled to search for it.

Now is the time when you have become so aware, so clear, to re-build relationships with others who could not jump on that higher roadway to the Sun at rapid pace. Now you can turn around and find the link which you have mutual interests in, agreements with, and let the rest go. By the way, these distinct pathways people have chosen is not a symbol of people's worth or value at all...no, it's about frequency and it's about what people have chosen to live like versus other people's chosen path for the above reasons.

It's the Beauty of that Aquarian energy of each individuals' free will. Everyone is precious – everyone has magic...it's simply an event which has and is happening and continues pulling certain souls into certain energy force fields, pathways for a higher purpose. Ever evolving.

Some of it is artificially scientifically manipulated...some of this separating process is a result of the light sifting people, and we can not deny, there are entities who are influencing the tides of humanity which are absolutely the worst humans, and a huge identifying of these groups has furthered the waking up period, hence separating them out...but the big picture? Is divine releases of Light from a Central Sun source stimulating humanities' ability to evolve our civilization into something magnificent? Are there distinct moral leaders who had to go through this process of identifying the less awake within humanity and deciding not to enable this consciousness any longer but stand up and stand out as individuals? Possibly there were forces here that recognized it and also began accelerating their mechanized technology to further degrade humanity. Maybe the light began accelerating, and those who did not want this to happen began escalating their agenda...however no matter the interference, the light can not be stopped. It's the amazing power of intelligent evolution, and has a destination it desires those who can follow, to lock onto. So....

Where are we now?

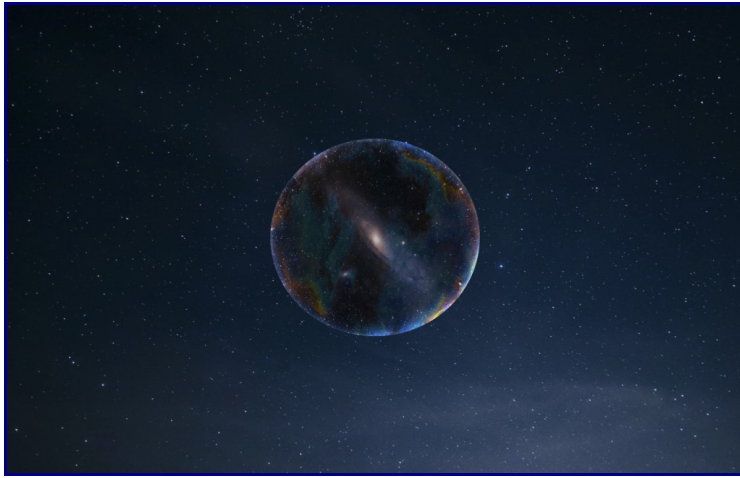

Little by little it seems to me, our next challenge is to recognize a great achievement has been reached within intelligent comprehension of what the heck has been happening on planet earth, and now it is time to meet people where there are similarities and extend a cord of love. Let's continue with this week's Astrology cycles.

Mars continuing through Gemini (August 21 2022 – March 25, 2023)

Personal higher guidance continues to stimulate us, motivate us to keep moving forward, keep going, accepting interesting information from outside, from above and within. Trusting there is a personal plan for you, and if you feel the impulse after examining all your options to move in a particular direction trust your intuition. It should be logical, bring a next step towards a future outcome which is worth it to you. We have been experiencing this intelligent motivation since last September, in spite of the worst confusion from October through November.

This cycle of Mars, continues to release information and motivation to our daily life's decisions, whether large or small. We're merging I believe, with our Higher Self's mind and guidance. It may be subtle, but happening never the less, and I believe it to be a new permanent quality we'll have at our disposal.

February 5 Mercury in Capricorn textile Neptune in Pisces

An easy day of contemplation and assessing where one is at with your duties, chores, responsibilities. It emphasizes your role in the picture, taking down some ideas, notes on your goals for the next week, and enjoying talks with those who are inspiring and motivating for you. Easy communication about any thing which is on your mind now. Perfectly compatible with the Full Moon Journey today and through the week ahead. (see below)

Feb 6 and 7, 2023 Venus at 15* Pisces sextile Uranus in Taurus

Emotions are heightened yet productively channeled these days. Original and progressive insights color your mood. A broader scope of what is happening in the world, your community, work force or just friends begins to help make sense of what is going on with everyone, and your role you play as being either the inspired or choosing to keep more distance. If the latter is chosen, it is to help you maintain your own strength and power as Venus in Pisces can be very sensitive to others' energies. The sextile to Uranus could indicate you are happy in general with where everyone is at, but might need to keep it simple in order to protect your energy reserves this week. Love and empathic connections with special people are very good, exciting and unique events can take place to bring a time of something different in your world. Seeking truth and honesty about practical issues is highlighted. Enjoy!

Feb 10 -11 Mercury at 28* Capricorn conjoin Pluto at 28* Capricorn

This conjunction pulls us into a mental consternation over what must be dealt with which isn't always easy. Anything related to paperwork, our job, our nervous system and how we're handling the pressure, our bills, documents, contracts, or any conversation which contains stressful issues can be experienced.

To get ready for these two days, simply give some positive Affirmations such as:

" I AM completely competent and realistic about my hours in the day, what I can handle and what must be simplified in order to maintain my highest happiness possible. I AM protected and shielded by the power of my Divine Higher Self all week. Nothing negative penetrates my mind or world and I AM grateful!"

Feb 9 - 14 Chiron at 13° Aries sextiles Mars at 13° Gemini and Mars begins to semi-sextile Uranus in Taurus.

A healing cycle for our personal control...re-examining what we can not control, and what we can, is good for us to sit down and get real with ourselves now. Jot down a quick list of what is inevitable we must do or face, then jot down another column of what is in our control as to how to solve or fix or control the situation. This helps us to avoid disconnect and leave our bodies, just because it's all too much. It helps us with the Leo Full Moons' power of being confident with our lives. Leadership, happiness and unwilling to sacrifice joy and success just because the world is in the strangest fracturing disjointed cycle ever. We are to remain solid and in control of ourselves regardless of how certain things play out in this science fiction scenario.

The future is splitting into those who depend upon AI and trust it, versus the higher evolved who can use it, but maintain their soul's power and grounded to higher realities, and not become just another machine.

February 8 – 25 Jupiter at 8 – 11° Aries square Hades at 11° Cancer

A new theme is slowly rising where unique massive groups of people all over the world are gathering together to launch campaigns to confront devilish behaviors, decisions and programs. Jupiter represents Morality, and in Aries (which it has been in since last May 2022) is the momentum of taking idealistic action based on Moral Ethical Analysis. No fear in calling a spade a spade then implementing action to change it.

When in a square to the Uranian planet Hades, it would be like Aries' warriors confronting variations of Hell on earth, in a black and white fashion. Because it's Jupiter in Aries, there's a rational wisdom facet to its course of action, not just an Aries arrogance to eliminate evil from the world. It takes the form of stronger education, exposure to better options and Jupiter rules marketing, documentaries, travel and embracing all forms of culture. So we'll see if any thing escalates in this manner of confronting Hell in a rational philosophical manner while preserving that Aries clarity of removing the grey objective reality trends!

The Full Moon in Leo occurs on Sunday – Monday New Zealand/Australian and Asian time - February 5th, 2023, at 1:28 PM EST.

Feb 5, 2023, 1:28 P M, Sun Opposition Moon (Full Moon) The Moon is full when the Aquarius Sun opposes the Moon in Leo.

This cycle of the moon is typically a time where some form of peaking moment occurs to us from what we have been working on for the past two weeks.

It's a culmination of noticing what's working for us and what needs to become modified in some area of our life. It feels like we've reached a fullness, a culmination of effort, and now it's ready to be integrated into our everyday way of life.

What do you think? What are your own observations and focus through this time? Whatever your priority of daily focus has been, this weekend is where we have reached some sort of culmination of it, so now we can sit and examine what worked and what did not do so well. What do we need to change in order to re-align with our Leo self satisfaction, love, heart realignment, quality of life and what do we want to change (Aquarius) modify, which we recognize as not as functional or realistic as we originally thought. Moon in Leo brings to us courage within ourselves to do what we need to do, without constantly self questioning.

The Moon in Leo helps us to be happy with our life. The Aquarius Sun urges us to not neglect others, our team, or the fact we still need a social integration, an involvement with others, serve, stay connected or work within humanity in some form.

So there's a swing back and forth between the prompt to lead even if it's for ourselves, leading ourselves and not dependent on others dictating to us, value what makes it work for us personally, regardless of what everyone else seems to be doing or committed to.

Leo makes it personal, special and if I could say, indulging in your personal needs. Maybe it's becoming a leader (in reality or in your own personal internal decisions as to how you see yourself in life), to be accepting of your needs, lifestyle, your priorities. Leo is about the power to stage your life, write your own script and create a year, a life which is right for you and brings you joy. We also have that extending oneself to help others through this time theme happening.

In opposition to the Aquarius Sun, it still should be able to connect with our community, our friends or workforce, the people "out there" who would love your presence in some form in their lives as you are an inspiration, fun, enhancing others' lives by just being strong loving and generous (all Leo energies) in their worlds.

There have also been details personal issues you may have been examining day by day in the past two weeks, taking note of specific things you have been going through, which do demand a decision, a realignment as we said earlier, which can be re-organized in your life this weekend. This will be again, under the theme of what is helpful and joyful for you, versus what everyone else is expecting you to be like or perform like. This Full Moon doesn't necessarily demand an external announcement to everyone, it's more like an internal awareness of what now works and what doesn't, for you, and how to go about taking these next two weeks until the new New Moon which will be in Pisces on February 20, 2023, and fixing things for yourself to your own liking. Take in all that wonderful awareness of your unique path you have integrated with, (Leo energy) and extend yourself when prompted, to people who need connection, your involvement or special tie with them (Aquarius) without concern of losing what you have gained and strengthened within yourself. Now for the fun part!

FULL MOON IN LEO SQUARE TO URANUS IN TAURUS EXACT

This Full Moon in Leo will be in square exactly to Uranus in Taurus. It can create overwhelm, anxiety from the result of too much external drama hitting you from so many angles and situations...it can produce a pressure where you have no choice but to be firm with one's position in the most pragmatic functional way possible. Otherwise you might feel like you're ready to fall apart.

It creates a T-Square between the Sun in Aquarius and Moon in Leo, magnifying our instinct to break the mold, be different, express one's individual path without being alienating and aloof, or self indulgent and pleasure seeking with a price. Not only will it push you towards more confidence to do your own thing and respect yourself and your style, but also encourage transformation, improvement and a greater functionality and authenticity among your people you are involved with.

It also produce a radical earthquake – be prepared for unexpected situations not counted on...especially if you have strong Leo/Aquarius/Taurus and Scorpio planets, or your Sun Sign is one of these.

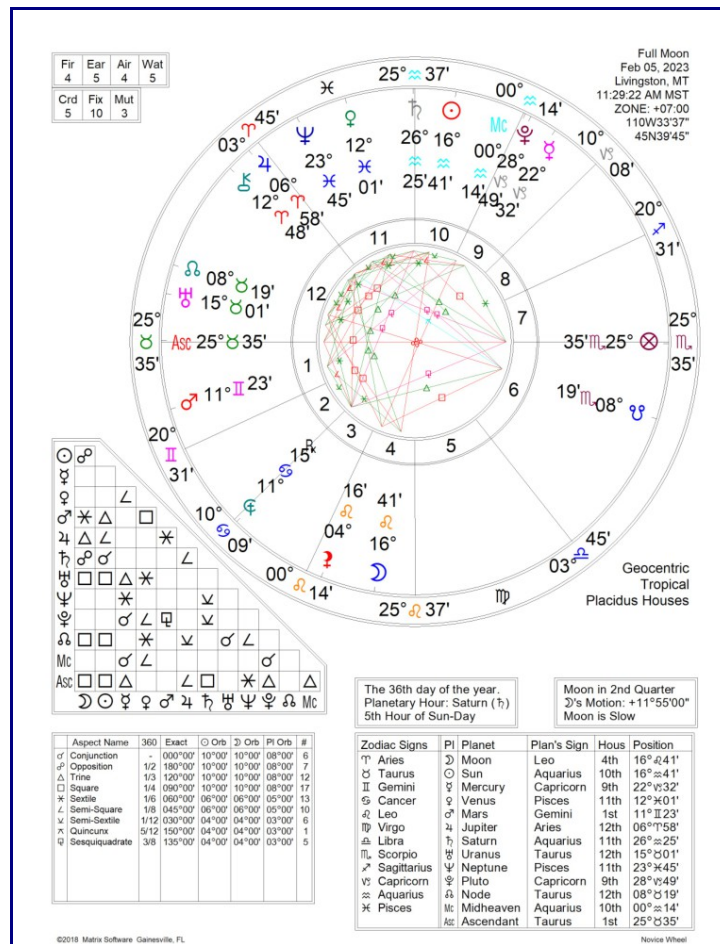

Global earthquakes of events are likely to take place in the world. Certain individuals could become worse in their instability.

Sudden disruptive events which demand leaders to rally together and assist, drawing upon Leo leadership and empowered expertise. A boldness yet common sense way is required to go against the masses' common denominator of thought, and move our planet up to a higher path of functionality and intelligent reform. Solutions must come from strong leaders who are not afraid to go against the common denominator of lower thought.

It demands everyone to begin facing the facts, even if not popular. Breakdowns in agencies, organizations and systems are starting to occur, and the beginning of discussion on how to replace them with higher solutions. This is a small step of the process integrating with the New Aquarian advancement which we'll witness especially as Pluto moves into Aquarius in March 2023 for twenty years.
