A SURGE OF DISRUPTION

STARDROPS APRIL 14 2024

We all have been experiencing a step up of time/events occurring in our lives where we can barely catch our breath as tasks, work, projects and circumstances hit us each day in multiple issues, unlike anything we've experienced years ago. It's now one of the trending topics we are becoming used to hearing everywhere.

The main theme as I see it for today for the next few weeks deals with our own personal expansion of thinking. We're being compelled to upgrade, expand and break out of old ways of viewing things. It's powerful, not benign, not a leisurely pondering of new possibilities, but a challenge to change now in order to keep up with our own progress timeline. So even though we have been already, challenged to handle more, something new is upon us.

With that said, we're entering yet another step up of energy, so get ready!

Below are some of my thoughts on what is now upcoming in the next few weeks. For new readers, past articles have covered the big Pluto continuing to move into Aquarius initiating Aquarian themes globally for humanity, along with several other key cycles happening in the U.S. Astrology and more. Today we'll just go over present planetary cycles for right now.

Stardrops April 14 2024

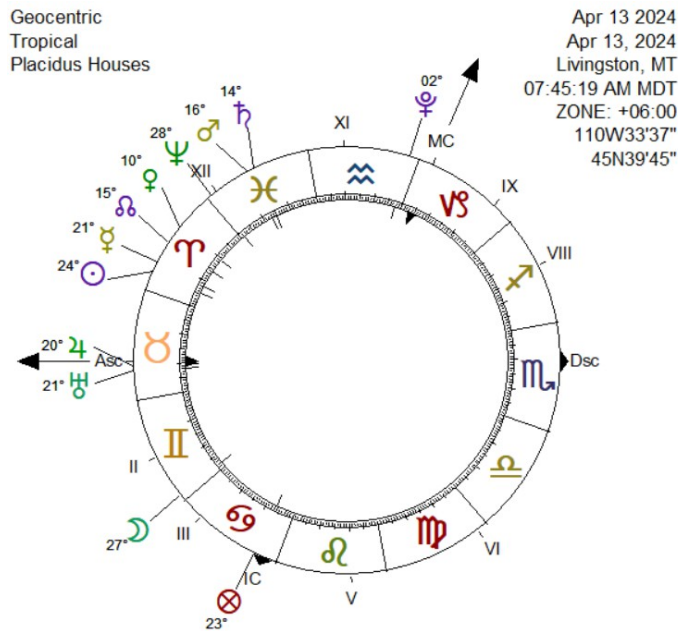

April 8 - 16, peaking April 10, 11, 12 Mars conjoin Saturn in Pisces

War trigger.

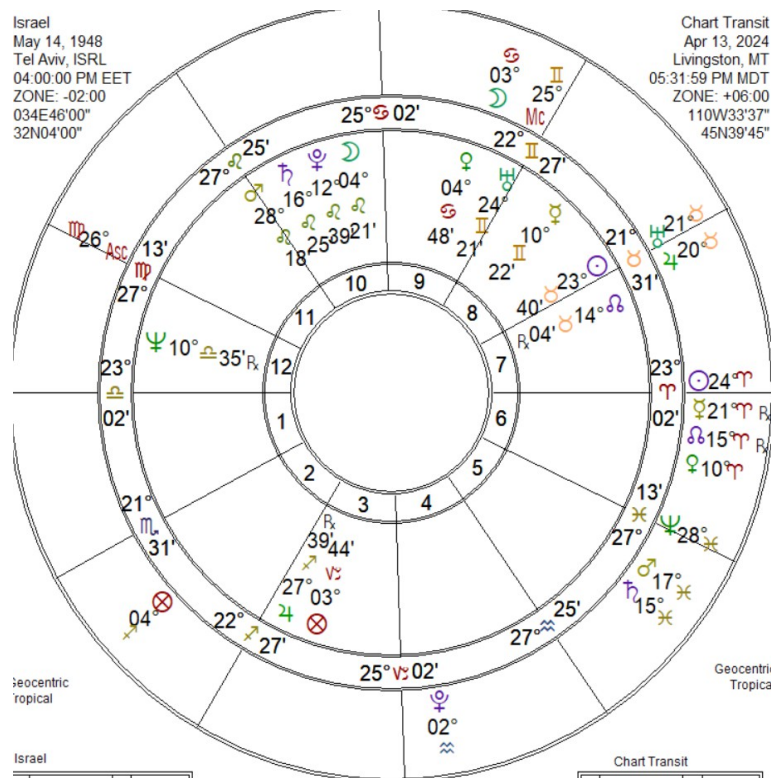

Even though the peak of this aspect is over, its theme is still very much in the air and will be for another week or so. We could also include the Jupiter/Uranus conjunction as another volatile trigger for rash unexpected events occurring on the planet. (More on that transit below.) You can note the Mars/Saturn position at the top of the wheel, and the Uranus/Jupiter conjunction on the far left side of the wheel in green.

Here is a chart for today's Planetary Positions

With the crossing of Mars, the planet of agitation instigation and war over Saturn for the past several days, we have been experiencing a step up of challenging energy. The Mars releases urges to act, and in the sign of Pisces, and these urges are felt as a greater than usual need to achieve an ideal or ultimate end goal. Combined with Saturn, with the example of Iran and Israel for instance, it would take the form of a severe punitive act of war, to make one's point clear, to hold fiercely to one's belief and defend one's position.

Below, we see Mars/Saturn conjunction between April 8 - 14 in the outer ring, lower right in the 5th house of Israel's chart, inconjunct Israel's Saturn in Leo, a direct hit on Israel's Saturn in Leo's theme of authority.

ISRAEL'S ASTROLOGY

Also, Uranus has been crossing over Israel's Sun mildly from last June/July 2023 and builds in intensity becoming even more powerful May 2024 - April 2025, triggering the most intense impulses for change of circumstances. It's another strong trigger conjunction, once in 83 some years.

Iran's Mars/Saturn in Pisces conjunction, is motivated to take the country's situation back by a taking matters into your own hands...not waiting any longer for other's support, interaction or solution - it is also punitive, severe, harsh action, and in Pisces, based upon the strongest belief, no other options but this position is left to take.

As the Mars/Saturn moved over Iran's Venus, then swiftly moving towards the 4th house of land, territory, home and security, and Iran's Mars, South Node and Mercury, also in Pisces, a new thrust of Iran's position and strong principles and belief (Pisces) their faith and with the south node involved, history, determines the Mars' offensive stance during the next few weeks.

But, it all started with the trigger, Mars. Uranus/Jupiter conjunction in Taurus is also like Israel's chart, in a strong position in Iran's chart. Iran's transit from Uranus, which is likened to an awakening, a sort of mid-life crisis moment in one's life is occurring once in 83 some years. It's the thrust for independence, the breaking away from something oppressive, moment in one's life, an, "I have had enough" point in their life.

Israel has this strong Uranus energy on their Sun, a completely different power, which is more of a self initiated desire for prominence and independent, internally motivated, one's right to move into one's (destiny) you could say. It is also in Israels' chart, once in 83 some years.

Iran has a Uranus opposition, which is more of an action of revolting against something or some condition from one's environment, a desire to break free from an old pattern, of oppression and Israel has it in a conjunction, which instigates an internal self motivated desire for greatness and destiny.

Both countries are being triggered by Uranus in regards to their own strong belief about what each country must do at this time to survive.

This theme of what one has intense faith in, a belief, is because of Mars/Saturn conjoined in the faith based sign of Pisces. Triggered by their individual interpretation, belief and faith in their perspective of thriving in the world...with Mars/Saturn in Pisces, its based upon belief, faith of an idea, a belief in something unmovable within based upon all sorts of reasons, present and historical (conjoining Iran's South Node)...In otherwords, it's a clash and volatile motivation for survival, in their perspective.

We could obviously do an entire article several pages long with these two charts. There are so many additional transits to talk about with these...transiting Uranus squaring Israel's Jupiter beginning June 2024, mainly active throughout 2025, extremely disruptive with unexpected turn of events with one's position in the world...Iran's last year of transiting Pluto oppose Jupiter in Cancer.....

The transit instigates the death and ending of a relationship Iran has utilized for many years, and notes the death and ending of some position it has been in, an old familiar support or source of supply in some way. It is a major astrological event for Iran, forcing them into a hard position where one comes to the realization that relationship is no longer viable. Both the Pluto and the Uranus, are strong aspects. Iran is in a difficult astrology cycle with Saturn moving over its Pisces planets and especially because of Saturn entering the 4th house for three years.

The cycle of Saturn moving through Iran's 4th house, in itself is a once in 29 years. It causes a situation where one has no choice but to rebuild a new life foundation for the country, a new level of functionality...and what comes with this Saturn through the fourth house is much suffering during the process of laying down that new life foundation....but it's the Pluto transit oppose Jupiter which has been and continues to be severe, uncommon opposition to one's survival. It does not end until October 2024 .So that means the action of Pluto is the destruction of some past collaboration or support, relationship providing security. it is breaking down and ending.

Let's move on to other planetary energies....

Weekly Planetary Cycles

April 14 - 15 Mercury conjoin Chiron

A few days where a re-boot might be good for one's spirit and body. It would be a time for reflection on one's life situation up to this point, then closing one chapter and designing the new thrust before us to focus on.

April 17 - 19 Mercury and Venus conjoin North Node in Aries

A time where inspiration to write, design, express beauty, music, or at least feel the impetus for taking your work or projects to the next level would be available to you. It might involve other people as Venus magnetizes social friendship connections.

It opens the heart.

A time of inspiration, motivation and feeling the need to take personal action on a situation of importance for you and regain order and control in some form, back into your life. This is because it is in the sign of Aries. The thoughts could be centered upon taking control of a situation and intellectually planning out one's course of action in order to achieve this or that clear objective. It should be experienced as an idea such as... " Now I have completed or gotten over this and that situation, I want to get to this new idea, new cycle. I look forward to having the other issue out of the way, and not my top priority so much anymore, and not only get into creating the new, but also ensuring the past is handled in an entirely different manner from past experiences."

April 18 -29 Mars in Pisces sextiles Jupiter

These are nice days for sharing. Connecting with others. This should be experienced as a step up of connecting with others who share similar ideas, cultural values, friendly interchange of insights, education or spiritual adventures, inspiring motivation to travel, explore, share experiences together. It's a strong relationship bonding good will cycle to reach out and feel one belongs to a similar mindset with others. A welcoming positive interchange of supercharged conversations and ideas shared, in order to build something better and useful.

April 15 - 30th, peaking April 20-21. Jupiter conjoin Uranus

A great and yet potentially erratic, uncontrollable energy stimulating the need to accelerate and improve intensely, impatiently upon an existing world structures, leadership positions, style and social structure. Randomly previously unknown figures in the world rising into vocal positions presenting strong cases against old archaic systems and social economic, political, structures, the old way is broken down and tossed as Uranus/Jupiter penetrates into what's wrong and dysfunctional with this or that institution, and begins the process of replacing them with a new concept, a new style. People making loud vocal exposure and confrontational opinions could even be within these mega-powerful structures or organizations.

One side of this Jupiter/Uranus conjunction could also be seen as a familiar old conversation and intent to upgrade coming from power centers unwilling to relinquish their old system, and yet it's not a new path solution at all, but just one more variation on the old structure or theme....this will be challenged and convincingly opposed by a more higher intelligent voices. These voices will also take action. Because these planets are in Taurus, the builder, it is a practical earthy sign bringing about physical change over a long period of time.

These planets will not only instigate change in every physical activity regarding our physical material world, including economy, tech, machines, inventions, building, materials, space, corporate, politics, just about every subject involving survival on earth in a much more brilliant transparency, it also will instigate within ourselves, a sharper smarter self improvement, an ability to be more honest with ourselves as to how we need to move into our own future progress.

It would be as if suddenly, we can see more clearly what needs to be handled, changed and move our lives into something much more efficient and practical, an upgrade. We'll wonder how on earth we ever lived within the state of mind, tolerating our old self?!

Courage and sharp vision can be involved with this conjunction. New stimulation involving one's personal quality of life, one's worth and what you value in life, then the inspiration to begin taking action towards that vision you hold for yourself begins.

This is a strong aspect which isn't just going to disappear after a few weeks. This is one of those moments we could say started a new trend, a new insight or shifted our own reality and paradigm in some major way for our life.

It's occurring in the world of material functionality, especially all Taurus areas, economic engineering,, advanced technology, our understanding of our history on the planet - our real history, not the made up on. it assists all of us in just one more advanced form of putting together the lost pieces of an enormous puzzle, so we can better understand what we are actually up against and how to move forward into a better future.

Building a better physical material world, one based upon intrinsic divine values, but also our own building a new way in the most fundamentally useful and practical ways in order to ensure surviving. Acquiring is a theme with Taurus. (Uranus and Jupiter are in Taurus)

I use the word, acquiring, as Taurus deals with bringing things into our world and keeping them ...nurturing these ideas, these projects or items, or assets, or relationships. We're nurturing them for the long haul. We're increasing our holdings, our sense of owning or accumulating something. We're reclaiming and owning our Taurus worth, our value. We're acquiring skills and experience in order to survive anything which should occur on the planet. For some it could also be wisdom, information, skills, techniques and education. For others it might be assets.

But there will always be some sort of newness, originality, unconventional or maybe even bold and exciting part of it all, never seen this way before.

I believe this conjunction adds an incredible richness to our lives in some form, even if it is a brand new way of seeing something we are involved in, or a new bold way of viewing your life. But it will also do the same globally. I feel we'll never go back to that old way of seeing things again. This is why it will cause so much world change, national change, as this innovative vision of a better way, a more brilliant and logical way, can never be unseen. It will force transparency, exposure. Once you see this new path towards a more satisfying solution or experience, you can never return to the old paradigm again.

So even if there are those who desire to hold onto the old, they will not be able to sustain it, control it, as Uranus has to do with refusing to be controlled. It also governs Aquarian communities, humanity, a majority desiring the higher path.

Globally, there is always the risk of Jupiter/Uranus' energy to be so powerfully desiring upgrading and throwing out the old, disruptions can happen everywhere as a fall out of the energy. These disruptions are already beginning. Political unrest escalates, earthquakes, a continual unexpected disruptions on the planet of Solar activity and weather/geophysical disruptions and instability with these two planets in Taurus, the sign of earthy physical matter, triggered. So change is in the air so powerfully, it would be a good idea to continue our assessment of where we are physically in our life. Monetary changes in our banking system, yet innovative solutions could erupt here and there bringing alternatives to economic, banking, investing for our future.

Are we in a good position in our lives or is there more work required to build that Taurus security base?

For some, it won't be physical material things, but a question regarding quality of life, what makes life meaningful and rich for eternity. What have they built spiritually inside of their own soul experience. How to reach that Magnum Opus state of deep internal magical state of happiness? These are my thoughts about Jupiter/Uranus, the signature of a unique unprecedented energy of originality, can not be controlled, manipulated and compromised, fiercely independent, possibly containing the very essence of Saint Germain's own spirit as we enter the age of Aquarius.

Below, is an interesting dialogue, gets better as we get to the end of the video. Let me know what you think. I'm not always supporting every opinion within these interviews, but useful when examining the big picture! I especially love the breakdown of Plato's comments on Atlantis, and at the 1:38 point, Timothy's synopsis of these fallen ones breeding with the children of Adam, and they using them as proxies to control the world from behind the scenes. He reminds us of the declaration these beings have no life eternal within them, but the children of Adam do. Thereby protecting their own ability to perpetuate their own lives and control over this world. Enjoy!
